YOUNG GIRLS SWIM FOR LIFE

Tragic Ending of a Pleasure Trip on the San Joaquin River.

Brutal Pilot Pushes a Woman Into Water to Save Himself.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 10.—The chief topic of conversation here today is the terrible ending to the pleasure party which went up the San Joaquin river in a catamaran yesterday. Shortly after midnight one of the supporting boats of the catamaran filled and sank, with the result that Miss Mabel Kaffitz and Walter Henderson, the engineer, were drowned.

News of the accident was telephoned to town from the chickory factory, which is near the scene of the accident. The news created the greatest excitement, as the first report indicated that only eight of the twenty-two had been saved.

The party consisted of Mrs. Stella K. Smith and Gertie Tang (chaperones), Ethel Wynne Thompson of San Francisco, Bessie Walsh, Mariana Walsh, Madge Martin, Bertha Martin, Ethel Martin, Hazel Klench, Mabel Kaffitz, Adele Shepherd, Mabel Agee, Herbert Kenyon, Alva Atwood, Ozro Atwood, Archie Atwood, Ralph Yardley, Lloyd Woods, George Folger, George Holman, Clarence Hall, Sam Rhoades and Harry White.

The catamaran left this city about 8 o'clock and started for Bradt's Ferry on a pleasure outing with the party, the most of whom are members of the dancing club L'Allegria.

Sam Rhoades, who formerly belonged to the Y. M. C. A. swimming team, and is a strong swimmer, tells his story of the accident as follows:

"Peterson, the pilot, knew the boat was leaking all the time, and when he kept glancing back I asked him what he was looking at. He said he was looking at a landmark. I remarked that the landmarks along the river must move pretty often. I noticed that the boat was listing somewhat, but thought nothing of it, as we were about to land. Then it suddenly began settling forward, and on the port side, and I yelled for everybody to come up on the high side. There was a rush to that side, but the water was pouring in so fast that Henderson, who was trying to stop the engines, must have been caught in the machinery, and I don't believe he got out at all. As the engines stopped Peterson remarked: 'There's a good landing spoiled.' We had all been out to Jackson's Baths many times together, and every one in the party, including the girls, could swim. Several of them jumped into the water and struck out for shore, but eight of us stayed on the boat, climbing up on top. I remember one of the boys tried to steer the boat to shore with a shad net, but the current was too swift. When the water finally got up to our knees we had to leave the boat, too. I remember Miss Kaffitz was standing close to me. Adele Shepherd and I jumped together and struck out for shore. I was towing her when somebody else jumped and struck me on the shoulders, bearing me under. Then Miss Shepherd and I became separated, and I thought she had drowned, so I struck out for shore to get a plank or a log. I found she had got ashore ahead of me. I saw Miss Lang struggling in the water and I pulled her out.

"Pretty soon," continued Rhoades, "Mrs. Smith got on shore and she told me Peterson was in the water, with his head in the fork of a willow, keeping himself afloat. She reached the same willow and tried to catch hold, but Peterson pushed her away, saying that he was drowning. He acted like a brute all the time, and when the launch Viola got to the scene he announced that he was going home in her. The others refused to go, preferring to stay and find those who were missing."

Sam Rhoades then went to Bachman's house, where already the people had been aroused by cries of distress, and telephoned to Supervisor Shepherd informing him of the safety of Miss Adele.

Supervisor Shepherd notified a number of people about town by telephone and soon several parties started for the place, which is about nine miles from this city.

Chief of Police Gall, Captain Kingsbury, Officer Welsh, Joseph Trumson, Deputy Sheriff Black, John Woods, D. Kenyon and John Bonner went to the scene of the accident in the launch Viola, leaving here about 2 o'clock. They passed the catamaran just above the brickyard, lying bottom up. They went up to Bachman's, where many of the party were being cared for by the people in the house.

The party in the Viola then returned down the river, looking for the missing. When they got back they chopped a hole through her bottom, thinking perhaps either Miss Kaffitz or Henderson had been caught inside of the boat. Neither was found.

Sheriff Sibley with Deputy Wall drove to the scene, as did Constable Beach and John Harkins in another buggy. Several hacks went out later and conveyed the survivors to this city.

Lindley Peterson, the pilot, a young fellow about 20 years old, is being severely censured for his actions and for his negligence in taking a party out in a boat that was leaky. He is in hiding today and not to be seen.

At 12:10 o'clock the bodies of the drowned persons had not been found. Miss Kaffitz leaves a widowed mother, who is frantic with grief. Henderson was a machinist and had served in the navy.

Miss Maude Martin managed to swim down stream about two and a half miles. She was greatly worried regarding the safety of her two younger sister, Bertha and Ethel. While in the water, she freed herself of her clothing with the exception of her undergarments, shoes and stockings. She was almost frantic, thinking her sisters had not been rescued. She tried to overtake the wreck, but could not do so. She finally learned that her sisters were safe, and was about to give up when she was rescued.

Many stories of heroic work on the part of the young men of the party are being told today. Young Hall saved five of the girls.

Anna Tone was asked to be one of the party, but declined, a fortune teller in Angel's Camp having told her a month ago to beware of a launch party, as there would be an accident.

EVIDENCE IS NOW ALL IN.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

HILLSBORO, N. M., June 10.—To the surprise of all, Major Llewellyn was not put on the stand in the Fountain murder trial today to deny the charges made by Print Rhodes yesterday afternoon that Llewellyn had threatened to blow up Lee's house with dynamite. He was called for rebuttal but did not answer and no messenger was sent for him. Nevertheless the rebuttal evidence of the prosecution was devoted almost wholly to an attempt to vindicate the ex-legislator.

The evidence of the defence and the cross-examination of the other witnesses had been for the purpose of establishing an alibi, and had brought out these counter charges of several plots to murder Oliver Lee and Attorney Fall.

Captain Brannigan, Carl Claussen, Jack Fountain and others were put on the stand in rebuttal of the Rhodes story. The case then closed.

Attorney Barnes opened the argument this morning with a larger crowd in attendance than usual. The case will go to the jury Monday.

A Mere Accident That the Mohegan Horror Was Not Repeated.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

COVERACK, Cornwall, June 10.—THE AMERICAN LINE STEAMER PARIS, WHICH RAN ON THE ROCKS OFF THE MANACLES MAY 21ST, IS NOW KNOWN TO BE DOOMED.

A southeasterly wind is blowing, bringing in heavy seas, which are drifting the steamer astern landwards. Her boilers have shifted, her false bottoms are gone and the divers are unable to work.

The officers of the steamer leave here today. With the exception of about a dozen men, who remain with the captain and three officers, all the crew of the Paris have left her.

On the arrival of the last batch of the crew at Falmouth, to be paid off, a fracas occurred with the agents and underwriters. The agents refused to pay the men's fares home, which the sailors strongly resented, as they had stood by the ship until nearly the end. There is now nearly thirty feet of water in the holds of the Paris.

The quartermaster, who was on deck when the steamer struck, says he saw a warning flare from a pilot boat, but that it was not interpreted as a sign the Paris was in a dangerous position. The ship's helm was nearly starboarded in order to clear the pilot boat, and the W. N. W. was immediately resumed. He adds that but for this temporary alteration the Paris would have sunk alongside the Mohegan.

Miss A. M. Cooper Makes an Attempt to End Her Life.

"I AM A CREATURE TOO VILE TO LIVE. GOD HAVE MERCY ON ME. I MUST BE A FIEND INCARNATE."

These were the last words written by Miss A. M. Cooper this morning before she attempted to end her life by slashing her throat with a large carving knife.

The attempted tragedy occurred about 9 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. J. B. Redding of 1601½ Broadway called at the dressmaking rooms of Miss Cooper, Nos. 56 and 57 in the Playter block. On reaching the door Mrs. Redding heard groans within the room. The door was opened in response to her knock by Miss Cooper. The latter then fell back in a pool of blood on the floor, where she had been bleeding profusely.

When she saw her friend Miss Cooper exclaimed: "OH, I FEEL I AM SO WICKED."

"DON'T SAY THAT," responded Mrs. Redding.

"I GUESS I HAVE BEEN A FRAUD," said the dying woman faintly.

Drs. Ackerly, Johnson and Stout were summoned and bandaged the gaping wound on the woman's throat. She was then removed to the Receiving Hospital where Drs. Stratton and Lee and Steward Borchert worked hard on her to staunch the flow of blood. The artery on the left side of the throat had been severed. It is probable that the woman will recover.

Miss Cooper formerly resided in Riverside. She came to this city for her health. About five months ago she bought the dressmaking parlors of Mrs. Hollenback, with the understanding that the latter would not go into the business again for two years. The agreement was violated, and Miss Cooper lost a number of her customers. This, together with illness, is supposed to have upset her mind.

Miss L. Redding called on Miss Cooper yesterday. When she returned to her home she told her mother that Miss Cooper was crazy. This morning Mrs. Redding called to see what was the matter with her friend, and was horrified to find her weltering in a pool of blood.

Besides the short note left by Miss Cooper, there were two envelopes stamped and addressed "A. Cooper, Esq., 237 Great Northern Road, Aberdeen, Scotland," and "Miss Cooper, Great Foundland School House, by Huntly, Aberdeenshire, Scotland."

A box of jewelry was also lying on a table with a note directing that it be delivered to Mr. Page of the missionary branch of the First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Cooper is still at the hospital very weak from loss of blood.

Miss Cooper is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

DENVER, June 10.—A general strike of the employes of the American Smelting and Refining Company in this State is threatened.

A committee from the smelter employes union today submitted a scale of wages to ex-Governor J. B. Grant, chairman of the advisory board of the smelting company. They demand 20 cents per hour for yard men, 25 cents for roasters and 30 cents for box men.

This Governor Grant declined to accept. He says it is simply a demand for ten hours' pay for eight hours' work and will not be considered.

A strike which will tie up the entire mining industry of the State is feared.

Baking Powder Economy

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is cheaper and better at its price than any similar article in the world.

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality or wholesomeness.

The highest grade and most highly refined ingredients only are employed in Royal; hence its well known superiority.

It is always the case that the consumer suffers in pocket if not in health by accepting cheap powders as substitutes for Royal Baking Powder.

The Royal is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Avoid alum baking powders.
They render the food unhealthful.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH REBELS.

Gallant Charge on Filipino Trenches and Fifty of the Enemy Slain.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

MANILA, June 10, 4:30 P. M.—At daybreak today a force of 4,500 men, under Generals Lawton, Wheaton and Overshire advanced from San Pedro Maitre, sweeping the country along the bay south of Manila. By noon the country had been cleared almost to Paranque. The Americans lost two officers killed and twenty-one soldiers wounded.

REBELS FIGHT STUBBORNLY.

The rebels resisted desperately at the stronger of their positions, and left fifty dead in the trenches. Many more wounded were left behind by the rebels in their retreat.

The heat during the day was overpowering, and there were many prostrations of American soldiers from that cause.

DISPOSITION OF OUR FORCES.

6 P. M.—General Lawton's force consisted of two battalions each of the Twenty-first and Ninth Infantry, six companies of the Colorado volunteers and a detachment of artillery. The Nevada Cavalry was under General Wheaton and the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Infantry, the Fourth Cavalry and a detachment of light artillery were under General Overshine.

It was scarcely dawn when the troops, in a long silent procession, wound up the hillside behind the American trenches and formed a skirmish line. Concealed in the jungle, the advance rebel outposts fired a few shots before being seen. The opposing forces occupied two ranges of crescent-shaped hills.

BATTLE BEGINS EARLY.

The artillery, the Colorado Infantry and the Nevada Cavalry swung around the hill top of the left and opened the battle at 6:20. The rebels made no response from the hills, and the Colorado men cautiously advanced through the thick grass until they were confronted by a trench from which a few weak volleys were fired. A spirited response followed, and a charge into the trenches found it to be deserted.

THE REBELS FORCED TO RUN.

In the meantime a part of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth regiments formed in skirmish line, extending a mile to the right, and supported by the rest of the regiments, swept down the valley and up the hillside toward another trench. Approaching through the morass seriously hampered the Fourteenth, and the rebels, taking advantage of this, poured a galling fire upon them for thirty minutes. The Fourteenth was twice compelled to withdraw for the purpose of finding a safe crossing in the swamp. Finally the trench was enfiladed on both flanks. The rebels fled to the woods and sustained severe loss.

FIERCE HEAT HALTS LAWTON.

General Lawton then pushed his entire command south through the center of the isthmus until a few miles south of Paranque, when he swung around and halted on account of the heat.

During the march men were prostrated on all sides, owing to lack of water and exposure to the sun. It is estimated that 40 per cent of the troops were exhausted.

WARSHIPS SHELL PARANQUE.

The double turreted monitor Monadnock and three other vessels shelled Paranque this morning, and the rebels promptly evacuated the place.

AGONCILLO'S FULMINATIONS.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A dispatch to the World from Paris gives the following signed statement from Agoncillo:

"The report that there are differences of opinion between President Aguinaldo, General Luna and other subalterns is entirely false.

"It is also false that they have refused to have any dealings with the United States.

"Aguinaldo, the supreme chief, is obeyed by all.

"The only obstacle in the way of an amicable arrangement with the Americans is the unyielding spirit of General Otis and his inspirer, President McKinley, who refuse to fulfill the solemn promise given by the American representatives to the Filipino people of independence as soon as triumph should be gained over the Spanish forces—a noble act which our country received with gratitude and joy. It is utterly false that the Filipinos hate the Roman Catholics or that they have laid plots against their religious interests. If it becomes independent the Filipino government will proclaim liberty for all religions. All these reports referred to are but pretexts intended to deceive the American people and invented by the imperialists, who make a business of politics, which they put above the true interests of America and the Philippines."

FAILURE OF THE PEACE CONGRESS.

With Germany Hostile Arbitration Is Doomed.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—According to private advices reaching here from The Hague there is grave danger that one and all of the arbitration schemes before the conference will fail. It is said that Germany is markedly hostile to the arbitration principle, and is making an active canvass to secure the support of some of the second-rate powers in opposition.

If this movement is successful even in a limited degree, it is feared that arbitration is doomed, so far as this conference is concerned, for to carry any weight and show practical results, the delegates must be nearly unanimous.

KEATING IS GIVEN A NEW LEASE.

The postponed special meeting of the Board of Supervisors for the investigation of the charges of immorality against Superintendent W. J. Keating in his conduct of the insane department of the Receiving Hospital was held at ten o'clock this morning. Keating was present with his attorney, Emil Nusbaumer.

Mr. Nusbaumer asked that further proceedings be postponed until after his three weeks' vacation which he had been planning to begin tonight.

Supervisor Church took the floor to deny a newspaper inference and statement that Keating had been his appointment and to insist that he was the appointee of Supervisor Mitchell, now absent in the Yosemite. He had presented the motion for the appointment at the request of Mitchell, along with a batch of motions, and that fact may have naurally misled the newspaper in question.

Supervisor Wells stated that he had shared the impression that Keating was Church's appointment and had it confirmed by Mitchell telling him that it was.

Attorney Nusbaumer stated that his client had considered himself Mitchell's appointee. It being agreed, after more debate, that Keating was appointed at the instance of Supervisor Mitchell, Supervisor Church moved that, out of courtesy to Mitchell, this investigation should be postponed until the latter returned from the Yosemite.

Supervisor Roech seconded the motion, emphasizing the fact that he did so, not out of favor to Keating, but to show that he was not prepared to take advantage of the absence of other members of the Board to take snap judgment against their appointments, in retaliation because they had treated him in that manner.

Supervisor Wells severely criticised Superintendent Keating. He understood that the return of Mr. Mitchell meant an advantage for Keating that he did not deserve. "His conduct," said the Supervisor, "is a disgrace to the county and its institution that cannot be too quickly effaced. No matter how efficient his official management may have been, from Keating's own admissions he has been disgracing the administration of the Receiving Hospital. That is no place for illicit love making. The Board of Supervisors should purge itself and the county from the misconduct of this employe."

Supervisor Roech reiterated that he was handicapped by a delicate consideration in politics that did not affect Supervisor Wells. From the evidence at present before them, he wished it understood that he thought and felt entirely with Mr. Wells. Yet he did not feel at liberty to vote against an adjournment until Supervisor Mitchell's return.

Supervisor Church said that he was at present inclined to think just as Mr. Wells did, but he would favor this postponement as a matter of courtesy and justice to the absent member, whose appointee Mr. Keating is.

"You think so, but I say so," replied Supervisor Wells. "I cannot refrain from speaking just as I feel."

"But, do you want this man condemned without an investigation, or investigated without witnesses?" asked Supervisor Roech.

"No," retorted Mr. Wells, "but I want an investigation and I do not want a postponement."

The postponement was taken until Supervisor Mitchell shall return from the Yosemite, the point being made that it has nothing to do with Attorney Nusbaumer's vacation. Church and Roech voted aye and Wells, no.

Earlier in the meeting, on motion of Supervisor Church, and by unanimous vote, the license of the resort on the San Leandro road, heretofore known as the Thalia, was revoked. Before the vote was taken, at the suggestion of Supervisor Roech, the name of the proprietor, M. Cassell, was substituted for the name Thalia, as he understood that its name had been changed.

The Board adjourned until Monday, June 12th, at ten A. M.

WAR LOOMING OMINOUSLY IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

LONDON, June 10.—It is not improbable that the crisis in the Transvaal will be hastened today by some untoward incident at Johannesburg. J. B. Robinson, the South African millionaire and mine owner, received a telegram today from his agent at Johannesburg, saying the situation there is most serious.

The agent added that a mass meeting of Uitlanders will be held today in order to confirm and support the proposals of the British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner. As open-air meetings are not allowed without permission, it is not improbable, if the necessary permission is not granted, that the police will endeavor to stop the meeting.

The consensus of opinion among prominent Uitlanders and South African capitalists in London is that the British government is in a tight fix, the world is convinced it is in a tight fix, that it cannot retreat from its position, and that if President Krueger does not recede, war is inevitable.

Regarding the suggestion that the United States be asked to mediate between the Transvaal and Great Britain, Joseph H. Choate, the United States Ambassador, says: "While every good American would welcome the possibility of helping a solution of the present situation, we have not been approached in the matter, and I personally know nothing of this proposed mediation by America."

NEW SLIP FOR S. P. COMPANY.

The contest between Oakland and the Southern Pacific Company for the ownership of the slip and warehouse at the foot of Broadway seems over. The company has decided to abandon the claim and has made arrangements for the construction of a new slip and warehouse between Broadway and Washington. This land belongs legally to the company.

Work on the new building will begin about July 1st. The new slip is to be a little longer than the present one. The company will move into the new quarters as soon as they are built.

NINE SEAMEN ARE DROWNED.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 10.—The life saving crew remained all night near the wreck of the three-masted schooner George A. Howes, which capsized during a storm yesterday.

The Little Egg Harbor life saving station reports that so far as it has learned from that point, no one from the ill fated craft has been saved. The crew was composed of nine men. Today a yawl boat, evidently from the wreck, was washed ashore. There were no oars or anything in the boat to show that it has been recently occupied. Just what is keeping the Barnegat crew near the overturned vessel cannot be conjectured. The sea has not been very heavy, and she could return at any time.

The opinion is expressed that, finding the weather and sea favorable, she remained in the water so as to render assistance to any of the crew that might be found alive.

The life saving crew returned from the schooner later in the day, having found no trace of the sailors. As the wreck is in the path of the coast-wise shipping, there is a bare possibility of the wrecked ship's crew having been picked up.

ARMOUR, S. D., June 10.—S. Clark shot and fatally wounded his wife and 15-year-old daughter four miles northwest of Delmont last night and then disappeared.

Officers are in pursuit, but Clark has a good start.

He is armed with a rifle and revolver, and there is a prospect of a fight if he is overtaken.

Clark and his wife were once divorced, but were remarried a year ago.

They then disagreed and separated, the wife suing for divorce.

She was visiting a former neighbor, when the daughter, who had remained with the father, went to visit her.

Clark followed and shot them both, the wife in the neck and the girl through the shoulder and again through the head.

Neither can live.

FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 10.—At a meeting of striking freight handlers of the Erie Railroad today it was decided to order out all men employed inside at the various freight houses on the docks this afternoon. Committees were appointed to visit each freight house at once and notify the men. The strikers subsequently adopted the following:

"We demand 15 cents an hour for ten hours' work during the day, 20 cents an hour for all overtime, no overtime after 10 o'clock and no Sunday work."

Daly's Remains Sent Home.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 10.—The remains of Augustin Daly, who died in Paris on Wednesday, arrived here today from Havre. The casket was enclosed in a case marked "A. D., New York." It was quietly removed from the steamer and placed in a railroad vehicle, which transferred it from the Empress dock for shipment to the United States by the American line steamer New York, which sails today. Mrs. Daly will be a passenger on the same steamer. Only the Hon. Mrs. Eric Farrington, a friend of the family, accompanied the remains from Paris.

WANTS HUSBAND BROUGHT HOME.

Mrs. Thomas Lane of Haywards this morning swore out a complaint against her husband to compel him to support their minor son, who is 16 years of age. The husband is a blacksmith. About a year ago he left his wife. He is now in Santa Cruz. Mrs. Lane says he left her to go away with another woman. She wants her husband help support the family.

FUNERAL OF JAS. DE. FREMERY

The funeral of the late James de Fremery took place from his late home, 1305 Adeline street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

There was a very large attendance at the services, which were conducted by the Rev. Holme of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church of West Oakland, assisted by the Rev. McClure. There were many beautiful floral offerings.

The pall bearers were: Mayor R. W. Snow, Albert Miller, E. P. Pond, Love White, Robert Watt, D. E. Martin, Chas. D. Haven, J. L. N. Shepard, Giles H. Gray, H. C. Campbell, Henry Whittle.

The interment was in Mountain View.

BIG STRIKE IMPENDING.

PITTSBURG, June 10.—A strike of 25,000 coal miners in the central district of Pennsylvania is imminent. Within the last ten days secret meetings have been held at Robertsdale at which the national and district officers of the United Mine Workers' Association were authorized to represent the machine miners of the entire district for a strike to be declared as soon as these officials thought the time ripe. A letter from a national organizer received here declares that this will be within a month or six weeks.

DEWEY HOME FUND.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The contributions to the Dewey Home fund received today amount to $553, making the total so far received $6,789. Advices received show that contributions in considerable amounts are being made to newspapers, banks and commercial bodies in all sections of the country, and the indications are more encouraging than at any time since the fund was started.

Divorce Suit

Catherine Larseneur this afternoon sued Dominick Larseneur for a divorce.

CLEVELAND CAR MEN ON STRIKE

CLEVELAND, O., June 10.—At 4 o'clock this morning the motormen and conductors of the Cleveland Electric Railroad Company, known locally as the "Big Concern," declared a strike, tying up the entire system, including the Euclid, Wade Park, Cedar, Central, Scoville, Wilson, Broadway, Jennings and Brooklyn lines. Word was sent at once to committees at each barn not to let the day cars start out.

President Bryan announced that no more conferences would be held with the company unless the officers seek out and treat with the union. Men on the way here to take the places of strikers have been headed off, the men say.

The big consolidated employes want, first, the recognition by the company of their union, which is a part of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America; secondly, they want a board of arbitration to pass upon alleged violation of company rules when a man is charged with violating these and the union officers and the company's management disagree upon the disposition of his case.

They want summary dismissals for causes not clearly apparent to them stopped. The men charge that there have been numerous discharges for trifling reasons. The men want, thirdly, an abatement of "swing" runs. In a swing run, a man gets pay for only the hours he works, but the working hours are scattered all through the day and night.

DEPARTMENT CHANGES NOT YET DISCUSSED.

There was another failure today to hold a meeting of the Committee of the Whole of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners. President Clement said that the other two Commissioners, Mayor Snow and City Attorney Dow were too busy to be brought together.

BURNING OF A ROLLING MILL.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The rolling mill of Norton Bros.' tin can factory in Maywood, where 1,300 men are on strike, was burned today. Loss $10,000. The factory officials claim the fire was started by strikers.

Arrangements have been made for a conference late today between the factory officials and a committee from the Chicago Federation of Labor, and it is expected that the differences will be settled so that the men will return to work Monday.

The Cricket Games.

WILL PEOPLE OF OAKLAND VOTE FOR BONDS AND PROGRESS?

With city bonds, city progress.

No bonds; no improvements.

That is the key-note.

Mayor Snow struck it with directness and clearness at the meeting of the Twenty-third Avenue Improvement Club. He said:

"We want a park, not for the rich, but for the poor for the man who spends all day at hard labor. I think it would be a good idea to provide a resting place for these men." And he added:

"I do not think that you will be able to obtain anything from the tax levy this year. Unless we issue bonds we can secure no improvements at present."

In reply to a question the Mayor said: "The legal tax limit is one dollar. Besides there is 17 cents levied per annum to pay off the bonded school indebtedness of the city. The city can profitably use a million dollars for improvements. I am in favor of the issue of the whole sum or any part of it."

That is the situation in a nutshell. It is a condition, not a theory. Every taxpayer and every citizen can understand it.

The Mayor is entitled to credit for having presented this issue.

Bonds and progress.

Shall Oakland go ahead, at a pace warranted by the outlook of the times, by the universal prosperity of the nation, by the especial promise of the expanding commerce and industries of the Pacific Coast? Or shall the prejudices of sluggards hobble its wheels?

In the course of the club talk on the subject of parks and like improvements the Mayor showed that he views the matter broadly.

Mayor Snow was elected on a platform of progress and development, as well as of economy and thrifty government.

The people should meet him on both of these planks.

We believe they will.

The time for action has arrived.

FEAR SPREAD OF SMALLPOX.

Board of Health Takes Necessary Precautions.

The Board of Health held its regular meeting last night.

The subject of small pox, suggested by the case at 1913 Magnolia street, was introduced with a view to taking steps to guard against an epidemic of the disease.

At the suggesting of Dr. Hamlin, Health Officer Todd was empowered to take all necessary steps to prevent the spreading of the disease. He was also authorized to rent a house to which smallpox patients who might be stricken in some public building might be taken for treatment.

Dr. Todd stated that he had discovered twenty people who had visited the house of the Olsen family in which the smallpox case is located, a short time before the nature of the disease was declared and he had vaccinated all of them. There still remained two visitors whom he had not been able to find.

A resolution was adopted quarantining the Olsen premises, 1913 Magnolia street.

Comment on Passing Events.

By HENRY A. CHITTENDEN.

The event of the week or prime interest to this community, it seems to me, was the demonstration in force made by the people of the First Congregational Church last Monday night with a view to averting their pastor's acceptance of his call to the chronology and an accompanying chair in Stanford University. Readers of the Tribune have been made familiar with all the utterances and with the notable spirit of that occasion. Those utterances were in perfect accord with the keynote presented in advance that day by the Tribune. This paper admonished the ardent and deeply moved friends of the Rev. Charles R. Brown, that they must not offer him any pleas or appeals that were not addressed to his conscience. While Mr. Brown, then as before, has given evidences of the abundance and depth of his affection for his people, he has made all who know him comprehend that he is not the man to be stirred or constrained to a supreme decision by any motive lower than the highest conception of duty. All the speakers joined with the Tribune in arguing that the weight of the consideration of a superior duty lay with his retention of the pastorate in Oakland, which he has so auspiciously opened.

The notable discussion in the church brought out with emphasis the attractiveness to such a mind and conscience as Mr. Brown's of the call to minister to a large body of students, and there was no disposition to belittle the authority of that summons. This side was admirably presented by Rev. Dr. J. K. McLean. That part of the conference however, brought out some rather startling admissions as to the spiritual tendency and condition of the students in our Universities. State Senator Guy C. Earl and Philip Thayer, speaking from and for their experience in the State University, as much as intimated that modern University students are theologically and spiritually most prayerless. It was distinctly stated by the former of these speakers that the University students of today, by the scientific studies and influences of a portion of their course and the philosophical inquiries and limitations of the remainder are, as a mass, launched upon the world with the rudiments of a personal faith in things and sanctions supernatural, yet to be acquired. Probably this melancholy fact was also disguised yet comprehended in Mayor Snow's glancing remark that he had supposed that Stanford University would be content with occasionally borrowing our Oakland pastor.

These utterances, if they are well founded, constitute a serious arraignment against the modern methods of higher education at least as they are developed upon the Pacific coast. Such charges having been intelligently and deliberately made, the burden of reply rests upon those Universities. The time for their reply may not be opportune, as both professors and students have flown as afar on their long vacation.

It strikes me as singularly and honorably characteristic of Oakland's tone and moral status that this debate of the Congregational Church and the startling march in force to the home of its pastor, should have been conducted and led by the Mayor of this municipality. I can hardly conceive of any other American city to the credit of which such a fact could be cited.

I would close this reference to that discussion and its subject, by venturing the opinion that the Rev. Charles R. Brown will in the long run preach more effectively and fruitfully to the students of Stanford University and others, and perhaps to more of them, from his present vantage point in Oakland, as the leading as well as rising exponent of broadened yet reverent Congregationalism on the Pacific coast, than if hidden under the bushel of any professorial chair.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher used to say in the height of the ante-bellum anti-slavery agitation, that he could preach the gospel of freedom to more Southerners from Plymouth pulpit in Brooklyn than if he should go on a crusade through the Southern States.

A word to the wise (Dr. Brown) proved sufficient.

The public is asked to wonder and admire because a man who is serving time in prison for stealing thirty cents from a poor box has fallen heir to a fortune of one hundred thousand dollars.

The public might better wonder how any man could be awarded so dreadful a penalty for such an offense. For a poor man, on the verge of starvation as this one was, to take thirty cents from the poor box would have seemed very like helping oneself to one's own. For our laws and their administration to constitute this a crime of deepest dye conveys an awful satire upon modern law and modern charity.

Says a writer in the New York Journal, "If education means the bringing out of all the qualities which make for manhood, what must we think of our public school boys whose every other word is a curse where it is not bad grammar?"

That writer must have sojourned in Oakland.

"The poet is born, not made," said Horace, who has been supposed to knew. But, then, Horace, living two thousand years ago, lacked the inspirations of modern high-pressure journalism, and had not the advantages of belonging to the staff of the Oakland Tribune.

With all our lauding of our navy—and share the days of Lawrence and Perry and Paul Jones, we have been disposed to laud it—how shamefully we actually treat it?

Is it generally realized, is it mentioned in our school books, that the American boy who enters our navy as an apprentice surrenders his inborn right to rise, even to the height of becoming President of the United States? Under the navy regulations he can never rise at all—not even to the rank of a cadet, without a political pull that shall take him off his ship and put him into the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Is this fair, is this consistent, is it patriotic? Is it right that the army should offer every boy who enters it a career, while the navy offers him none?

Because M. J. Keller, one of Oakland's leading merchants, had the State-wide breadth and manliness, with others, to stand forth against the action of the San Francisco Merchant's and Manufacturer's Association in sending emissaries East to get mixed car-load freight rates (those in which all California merchants except a handful of San Francisco jobbers are interested) "equalized," as they now term it, that is, advanced to as high a point as the rates to the East under which the farmers and producers of California are groaning, that body has dismissed Mr. Keller from its membership.

Again must I respectfully insist that Oakland merchants are at the head of the procession in this State and coast, while those of San Francisco are at the tail.

And a sorry looking tail-piece they make!

I like the virility with which our distinguished townsman, Mr. Hugh Craig, heads and expresses his opinions. There is a sort of trip-hammer force in his utterances that always commands respect, although it may not always compel conviction.

Mr. Craig is one of those practical and get-there thinkers who, traveling in blinders, sees only the objective point. Speaking for his country, he would, as has been elsewhere said, "snatch everything in sight." This is a perilous doctrine.

Some of the rest of us are embarrassed with moral scruples, with the capacity for looking at both sides, of placing ourselves in the position of the other fellow, of seeing, perhaps, lions in the way. Such leonine personages as Mr. Craig see no lions, being lion-blind.

Mr. Craig, for instance, would sweep the whole of this continent, with most of the Islands and dependencies of the Orient and intervening seas, under the supremacy of the United States. He would never have given Germany the chance to buy the Ladrones from Spain. Mexico should have come our way, he thinks, fifty years ago. Canada is bound to do so soon. Such trifling obstacles as the Clayton-Bulwer treaty and the feelings and treaty rights of Great Britain must not be conceived to stand in the way of this country accomplishing the Nicaragua canal and having that desirable world highway all to itself. Diplomacy can be counted to achieve that result, says Mr. Craig. What is diplomacy good for, if not to materialize the fine projects suggested and pushed along by the Hugh Craigs of the community?

The worst, or the best, of it is that while Mr. Craig is holding forth views, you, with all the rest of his hearers, think just as he does.

Such men have their uses. They constitute the community's, the nation's, cerebellum. They give it impulse and initiative and executive force. They produce results. So long as they are subordinated and directed by the other set of faculties, they do the world and their public good and not harm. It is especially fortunate when the powers of such natures are directed toward the achievement of worthy public ends, and are, as in this instance, divorced from the single end of self-aggrandizement to which forceful men are commonly addicted.

The majority of the people of this Pacific Coast, and also of the whole nation, will agree that the Nicaragua canal must be constructed by Americans and in the interest of American. On that point they are with Mr. Hugh Craig.

Left Estate to Husband.

The will of Georgia A. Stewart, who died Sunday, has been filed for probate by James Stewart, the husband. He is named sole devisee of the estate, valued at about $15,000. It consists of real estate in Sacramento and 150 shares in the Capital Gas Company of Sacramento.

DR. HUNTINGTON WANTS HIS MONEY.

Yesterday Dr. W. D. Huntington applied for a warrant for the arrest of Abraham Wesolo, a tailor formerly doing business at Seventh and Market streets. Dr. Huntington charges Wesolo with an attempt to abscond from the city to defraud his creditors. The doctor says he treated Wesolo's child for a case of meningitis and never received any payment for his services. The ailment proved fatal, but Dr. Huntington says that Drs. Stratton, Crowley, Adams and Boyes all found the case beyond their power to cure. He thinks he should be paid for doing all he could. Wesolo surrendered himself last night to Captain Peterson, putting up $50 bail.

WHY JEFFRIES WAS ABLE TO WHIP FITZSIMMONS.

FROM A SCIENTIFIC STANDPOINT.

Fitzsimmons' defeat last night at the hands of big Jim Jeffries once more verifies the pugilistic aphorism that a good big man will always whip a good little one.

Judged by ordinary standards it is absurd to speak of Fitz as a little man. Above the hips he has the frame of a 200 pound man with a splendid muscular development. Compared with the massive Californian, however, he looks like a greyhound alongside a lion. He entered the ring last night weighing probably 165 pounds, against Jeffries' 205 pounds. As Jeffries was just as fast on his feet, just as hard a hitter and just as confident as his opponent, there was no chance for the lighter man to win.

A boxer of Fitzsimmons' weight may be able to strike fully as hard a blow as the 200 pound giant, but he does it at the expense of his nervous energy, which is rapidly exhausted unless he can land a knockout early in the fight. For one blow that Fitz landed on Jeffries last night he missed three, and not having the weight of his young opponent behind them, Fitz was obliged to throw all his nervous force into the blows to overcome the handicap. This drain on his vitality, whether he landed or missed, steadily weakened Fitzsimmons and really contributed as much to his defeat as the punishment he received from the ex-boilermaker.

On the other hand, Jeffries' weight, backing up his speed and cleverness, was an enormous advantage. His powerful blows are delivered with ease. Simply by swinging his great weight into them he could land as hard as Fitzsimmons, without draining his reserve of nervous force. The result was that he came up fresh in every round, while his opponent's strength was constantly ebbing away under his own exertions.

While Fitzsimmons is undoubtedly a wonderful piece of fighting machinery—the greatest pugilist of his weight that the ring has ever known—it is also true that last night's disastrous battle was the first break in a chain of bull-head luck that has attended him in every big fight he has engaged in since he landed in San Francisco nine years ago. In other words, last night was the first time that Fitz has not had Blind luck in his corner before the fight began.

Fitz bounded from obscurity into pugilistic fame by whipping little Jack Dempsey, a consumptive welter-weight. Here Fitz was lucky in having a freakish physique that enabled him to get down to 151 pounds without impairing his strength and thereby getting a match with Dempsey. Fitz whipped Maher twice—once when the latter was a faint hearted novice, and once when he was almost blind. He caught Corbett when the latter was worn out by his excesses, and then won out by the skin of his teeth. Last night, for the first time in his career, he met a man who was big, clever and sound physically. The result the world knows.

HOW THE BRIDE AND GROOM SAID "YES."

An interesting wedding ceremony took place yesterday in Judge Ellsworth's court-room. The bride and groom, Miss Fannie Maud Phelps of Nevada City and Sigmund Horn of San Francisco are both deaf mutes. Rev. W. N. Van de Mark performed the ceremony. He wrote all the essential questions of the marriage service on pieces of paper and the bride and groom wrote their answers—"yes"—in the presence of three witnesses, Albert Peter de Witt Stiefvater, George S. Pierce, and John L. Summers.

BAND MEN DID NOT GET MONEY.

A bill for music during the Presidential campaign of William McKinley has been revived. Yesterday Bandmaster Henderson appeared before Justice Stetson to have the action dismissing judgment set aside. Henderson's band put in a bill of $60 for services during the campaign to the Republican County Central Committee and Charles Mautalen. A suit was brought and a judgment secured but the money was not forthcoming.

PICNICS AT SHELL MOUND PARK.
Sunday, June 11th—Nord Deutscher Verein, of San Francisco, to 11 P. M.

SATURDAY.....JUNE 10, 1899.

The Peace Conference at The Hague has been dropping out of sight a little of late, but the Commissioners are still theorizing away as to what everybody should do. As a debating club the Congress has been a great success, but as for practical results it won't have much to brag about.

General Otis need not worry about the adverse criticisms of the anti-imperialists who are complaining because he has asked for so many men for the Philippine service. There is much more sense in having a large army and doing the work quickly and effectively than in having half a force and dragging it out over a dozen years in the way Spain did.

The burglar who is operating here in such a reckless manner is taking desperate chances to get a little money. Even if the police do not land him, it is a sure thing that sooner or later he will run across some one who will blow off the top of his head with a gun. The crook who makes a specialty of breaking into rooms where people are sleeping never has a very long lease of life.

Nothing like taking advantage of the water facilities that are at our very doors. The special steamer service between Oakland and Sacramento river points for the fruit carrying trade is bound to be a success. A similar venture proved so in the past, and there are more reasons than ever now why such should be the case, for the fruit and vegetable crops this year are enormous and the expense of transportation is about the principal one to be met.

The temperance unions have taken up a good line of work in their efforts to prevent the locating of mushroom saloons at the railroad construction camps where hundreds of men are employed. These nomadic groggeries follow the big jobs from place to place, with the result that a large percentage of the men are practically working for them all the time. The contractors should lend a hand to abolishing these institutions, but unfortunately in many instances they share in the profits and are, therefore, more anxious to aid than to repel them.

LOCAL CIVIL SERVICE

What is practically a test of the right to apply civil service regulations to municipal offices in the absence of express local legislation to that effect, is created by the refusal of the employes of the Board of Health across the bay to surrender their offices, on the ground that they cannot be removed except for cause.

The stand is such a novelty in political circles that it is attracting attention all over the State, for it has always been an unwritten law in California that with a Republican administration all the Democratic office holders went out and Republicans came in, exactly the opposite, of course, being the case when the Democrats secured the reins. To now object to these customary partisan workings comes, therefore, in the nature of a surprise, but those intending to make the fight have enough confidence in their stand to put up the money necessary for defraying the legal expenses that are ahead.

While it is true that, theoretically speaking, there is no good reason why a capable man should be displaced merely to give his position to some other individual who, when put to the test, may not prove half as fit to handle the office, still there is the other side of the matter to be considered—the newcomer may prove much more adapted to the demands of the position than his predecessor. Then, too, the fact should not be lost sight of that the office holder who is now declaiming because of the attempts to remove him was perfectly willing to dispossess the holder of the place under exactly similar conditions at the time he was seeking the honors and emoluments thereof.

There is absolutely no argument in favor of the individual who, not satisfied with enjoying prosperity during the season when his own party is in power, seeks to prolong it into the administration of his opponents and thereby deprive them of fruits of victory to which they are just as much entitled as he was when he was awarded the honors. If local civil service is considered desirable, then pass a law to that effect and make every man take an examination to test whether or not he is fit to hold the place he seeks. Until that law is passed, though, the partisan office holder must and should be satisfied to step out, if the expiration of his term finds the political situation in control of the party antagonistic to his own.

THE TRAMP PROBLEM.

The members of the Associated Charities across the bay are engaged in a consideration of that oft-discussed problem "What shall we do with our tramps," and are devoting considerable time to sagely debating the various expedients that have from time to time been advanced.

At this particular juncture there should be no occasion to consider abstract propositions, for there is a material solution at hand—put them to work. From all parts of the State the cry is going up for labor—the railroad construction camps at Elwood, on the coast line, and where the Valley Road is heading for Point Richmond are clamoring for more men; in the vineyards, wheat fields and orchards the demand for labor is so much greater than the supply that they are seriously discussing the question of importing several hundred negro workmen from the Southern States—in every direction, in fact, evidence is given that the man who really wants to work can be accommodated many times over.

Run out the professional tramp, therefore, for there is no excuse for him nowadays. If he is an honest man he will be willing to work, and if he is willing to work there is plenty of employment for him, so that settles that phase of the matter. On the other hand, if he is a professional cadger, he deserves no money or assistance, and if they are refused him he will soon, by force of circumstances, be compelled either to go to work or to seek pastures new. There never was a better opportunity to put the professional tramp to the test, and no consideration whatever should be shown him.

KEEP DOWN TAXES.

A. B. Hotchkiss, the prominent attorney of Los Angeles, has issued the first number of Public Economy, a monthly publication addressed to thinkers and taxpayers, devoted to the best methods of keeping down public taxes and assessments, State, county and municipal. This new publication is indeed calculated to make thinkers of its readers, because it is of such a character that no one can read it without being compelled to think. Some of the reforms which are outlined in this initial issue are quite radical. It is for the students of public affairs whom it addresses and essays to enlighten to say whether they are not also quite as reasonable. In a word, this author looks upon public office not only as a public trust, but as a phase of business that might profitably take pattern by the business trust of the day, and minimize expenses by consolidating offices and abolishing duplicate and redundant sets of office holders. That this process may not please the abolished office holders is to be surmised. But this new monthly is aimed to please and benefit not that class, but the far larger and more important body, the taxpayers. To this end it is directed with great ability.

Nothing could be more appropriate for the Fourth of July than hoisting Old Glory to the breeze, but it looks as if Oakland ought to be capable of getting up a more elaborate entertainment than that, especially in a year like this, when the whole country is wild with patriotism. There should be enough enterprise here to arrange a demonstration that would attract visitors from all over Alameda county, whereas the way things are now planned, nine people out of every ten who want to celebrate will be inclined to make the trip to San Francisco in order to do so properly.

The Eastern exchanges now coming to hand contain exaggerated comments upon our late little earthquake, and talk of "panic stricken residents" and all that kind of nonsense. In the whole history of earthquakes in California not one-tenth of the damage has been occasioned or one-twentieth of the number of lives lost that can be charged up to every cyclone they have back there. The earthquakes are the least of our troubles, and the only people who pay any serious attention to them are Eastern visitors who have been scared beforehand by the yarns they read at home.

Tuolumne Reunion.

The Tuolumne Reunion Association will have a picnic at Sonora June 17th. The committee is arranging for a grand excursion. Round trip tickets from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley may be purchased at East Berkeley, Alameda Broad Gauge, and at First and Broadway, this city, and at Sixteenth street station. Parties can leave the 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th and return on any train leaving Sonora for San Francisco any day after the picnic until June 30th. Stopover privileges at any town on the road may be secured on application to the conductor. Trains leave San Francisco at 8:30 A. M.

JERRY RYAN'S ILLUSTRATION.

A prominent woman with a very great interest in juvenile mission work has this excellent anecdote to tell:

One of her classes in a certain mission is composed of little street children to the number of twenty or more, whose ages range from three to six. Most of the scholars are boys, though now and then one notices the pinched face of a little character of poverty in the ranks.

The other day the lesson was on the peculiarities of English. Words that are pronounced alike and spelled differently and words that are spelled differently but alike were discussed at length. She explained the difference between lead the metal and lead the verb, and the children grasped the point instantly. Then she took the two words week and weak. She explained the difference in the meaning and its use to the tots, and then called up Israel Sassenheimer, aged five, to use the word "weak" in a phrase. The little fellow thought and then answered: "A weak old woman."

The teacher nodded her approval and smiled into the eyes upturned to hers. "Now, Jerry Ryan," she said, turning to another little boy, "you take the word 'week' and use it in a phrase."

Jerry thought a moment, and then he, too, replied: "A week-old baby."—Detroit Free Press.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. THE ROUNDER.

I heard a good one when I came down the Broadway line last evening. Stuart Booth, the Oakland correspondent of the Call, having an eye to business, yesterday afternoon caused to be posted on the street window in his office the following announcement: "The Call is the only paper that will have a direct wire to the ringside tonight." Will Jordan of the Examiner staff came along and after reading the Call sign hurriedly disappeared. Presently a sign appeared on the Examiner window bearing the inscription: "The Examiner is the only paper that will have two direct wires to the ringside this evening." Joseph Travis of the Chronicle's Oakland staff heard of the excitement on Broadway, and after reading of the enterprise of his contemporaries concluded to get in the race. Presently there appeared on the Chronicle window the announcement: "The Chronicle is the only paper that will have three direct wires to the ringside tonight." Attorney Emil Nusbaumer, being attracted by the crowd, read the three bulletins and then called on the Call man to go down the line with him. After reading the bulletins Mr. Booth remarked: "Well, I guess it is one on me. If Sam Leake was here he would break a few small bets."

I hear that Officer Lou Agnew, who has been acting as clerk for Chief of Police Fletcher, will go on the street after July 1st. Officers McKinley and Kingsbury are red-hot after the position.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

"I have taken quarters at the Occidental Hotel across the bay, where I will live until I leave for Paris on January 1, 1900," said Varney W. Gaskill, secretary of the California Paris Fair Commission. "We are going to make a fine showing at the fair. I am getting all the rules down fine, and I tell you there are many of them to govern our exhibit at the fair. Those Frenchmen are mighty particular fellows. By the way, you have no notion how many people are going to the fair from Oakland and California. Why, we will have a regular gay home colony in Paree."

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

"Not a soumarke," said Clarence Crowell, lawyer, with a reputation of being the finest dresser in the town. "I mean I did not bet a soumarke on the prize fight. I would rather bet my money on a horse race any day in the week than on a prize fight."

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Now that Mayor Snow has refused to vote for M. K. Miller as Superintendent of Streets a great many people are asking what will become of Miller. Why, Mr. Miller will hold his position until his successor is elected and qualified. Snow has made the statement that he would not vote for Miller's re-election nor would he vote to put him out of office. This condition of affairs has caused the Mayor to be criticised. Snow was told that before the election Dow and Miller had made a combine and proposed to make a great many changes in the various departments. It was said that Snow was shut out of the combine. Now that is the reason why Snow carries an ax for Miller and holds a knife up his sleeve for Dow.

THE ROUNDER.

STREET CAR MEN.

ED. ROBINSON, HIGHLAND PARK--YOUR TURN NEXT.

Ed Robinson is not known to the patrons of street cars in the heart of town, but on the Highland Park and Fruitvale line he is a great favorite. In the past he has sometimes guided cars over the hills and down the grades which were but slightly larger than himself, because he tips the beam at 250 pounds. This avoirdupois he does not attribute to the healthfulness of his occupation, but to nature, backed up by cheerfulness, an easy conscience, good employers and square meals of porterhouse and terrapin three times a day. In handling his lever he can bring a car to a stop so that the rear platform will serve as a bridge over a crossing of a single plank. That is a skill which is appreciated in a country in which soundings are impossible when the rains fall and King Mud holds sway over crossing and thoroughfare. Robinson would rather run a bounding car over the divide between East Oakland and Fruitvale than he would a political party of any affiliation, a baseball club aspiring for championship honors or the policy of the Administration in the Philippines.

FOR POLICEMEN.

W. J. PETERSON, CAPTAIN--YOUR TURN NEXT.

No member of the police force has made such progress in a given time as has Captain W. J. Peterson, who entered the department less than four years ago as a patrolman, and who now wears the insignia of Captain. As a militia man in the Fifth Infantry Peterson wore the shoulder straps of Lieutenant. He then donned the blouse of a patrolman. Next the sleeves of that blouse were adorned with the chevrons of sergeant, and now the chevrons have been discarded for the symbolism of the second highest rank in the gift of the Police Commission. This advancement is somewhat remarkable when viewed by those who are satisfied to plod along in the rut in which they first entered the department. It was expected, however, of a young, energetic, persevering and ambitious man like Peterson. He did his work well, whether as patrolman, drill-master or sergeant, and at the same time had a watchful eye even upon the dazzling shield of the commander of the force. There is no doubt that, as Captain, the new incumbent will be no less ambitious to distinguish himself than he was in the positions which he now recalls only as memories of the past.

WOMEN WHO WORK

MISS ADA HANSON, CLERK--YOUR TURN NEXT.

Miss Ada A. Hanson is the head clerk in the glove department at Taft & Pennoyer's store. She has been in the employ of the firm for ten years. At the start she was put on a moderate salary, and began her apprenticeship. It was not long before she found favor in the eyes of her employers. Her work was thorough in every respect, and so recommended her that she was advanced from time to time until she reached the head of the department. Miss Hanson is now one of the most trusted employes in the store. Her manners are affable, and she has met with much success as saleslady. She declares that she is attached to the line of work she has chosen and would not think of giving it up. Besides being efficient in her work Miss Hanson is very popular with the other employes of the store. She is always willing to lend a hand when assistance is needed, and her pleasant manners have won for her a place in the hearts of all her friends.

TO DOWN CHRIS. BUCKLEY

Phelan and Rainey are Lined up to Fight Him.

Why Grant Drew Out of the Senatorial Struggle.

Extra Session of the Legislature Is a Certainty.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Sam Rainey will join hands with Phelan as against Buckley in the approaching municipal fight here.

That is about the most important development in a somewhat busy political week, and it is given precedence because it is not known save to a chosen few. The announcement that is here made regarding it may upset the plans of the manipulators to such an extent that they may be compelled to deny it, but it is true, nevertheless, as will be indisputably shown as the campaign progresses.

The alliance will, of course, be kept as much below the surface as possible, for Phelan, who is a kid-glove reformer, might lose many of his ultra-respectable supporters if they discovered he was traveling hand-in-hand with Rainey, the representative of the "push" faction. It is interesting, though, from that very standpoint, for it shows that no matter how high a standard may be set by the Mayor of San Francisco, it is impossible for him to retain power unless he forms a combination with at least one of the elements that do practical politics.

That Phelan has been forced into a combination with Rainey because he had to fight Buckley with his own weapons is by no means the only reason for the move—probably just as great a factor in the creation of the alliance has been the position taken by the Fire Department.

It is with the firemen that Rainey's chief strength has always lain. He belonged to the department himself in early days, and he and Chief Sullivan are more than ordinary friends; they are fast and firm comrades. Now, as under the new charter the Mayor appoints the Fire Commissioners, directly controlling the entire department, the danger of being removed soon manifested itself to the incumbents. However, there was a way to protect themselves, for the firemen constitute a mighty political power on election day and would be a dangerous element to antagonize.

That Rainey has succeeded in making a deal with Phelan whereby in the event of the latter's re-election Chief Sullivan and all the old-timers of the Fire Department will be retained can be regarded as certain. Such a move would give Rainey the particular lines of power he desires, while as far as the Mayor is concerned it would relieve him from antagonizing a body of men that is as popular as any in the city, for somehow a fireman is regarded in the public heart with an admiration akin to that felt for a soldier.

THE POLICE END OF IT.

What Phelan will do with the police is a question as yet unanswered. He is confronted there with exactly the same conditions that met him at the Fire Department, though it may be admitted that the star wearers are even more formidable than the fire brigade. As therefore the retention of Chief Lees and all the veteran captains and detectives who have done service on the force for the past quarter of a century is the issue to be met, it can be readily understood that some very lively politics is in progress just now on those particular lines.

The fact that Phelan is understood to favor Esola for Chief is not inclined to make the Lees element look very kindly towards him, though that an arrangement may ultimately be made by which Phelan will agree to retain the present organization is by no means out of the probabilities, for the Mayor is sacrificing many of his pet projects this time in order to achieve victory.

The struggle is already well on as far as Phelan is concerned. He is reaching out for organizations all over the city, and the discovery that in every precinct he has been forestalled by the Buckleyites has given him quite a shock. It was, in fact, a realization of the new factors he has to contend with that decided him to take Rainey into camp, a feat that was not very difficult, owing to the strained relations that have existed during the past few years between the ex-fireman and the "blind boss."

Buckley, by the way, has transferred his working headquarters from the Baldwin Annex to the Zinkand building. The change was occasioned because the Baldwin rooms were drafty, whereas now the manipulators are ensconsed very comfortably. Buckley attends strictly to business, his audiences and conferences with his lieutenants lasting until 11 o'clock every night, at which hour he closes down his headquarters.

Only a few words need suffice as to the story that Garrett McEnerny will step into Rainey's shoes and assume the duties of a Democratic boss. In the first place, every man who knows McEnerny is well aware that he very strictly eschews the practical side of politics and could no more be induced to mingle with the business end of the game than a chicken could be persuaded to emulate the habits of a duck and take to swimming. Furthermore, Rainey is not in the retiring business. There is no particular reason why he should do so, and he likes the position he occupies much too well to lay it down voluntarily. Whatever there may be in the story consists of dust being thrown in the air to blind the eyes of those from whom it is desired to conceal the Phelan-Rainey deal.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

The Senatorial situation has become more and more interesting as each day has rolled by, owing to the variety of rumors set in motion at both ends of the State. Before discussing the conditions, though, it is as well to sum everything up in a few words and the deductions may be set down as follows:

1. There will be an extra session.

2. There will be at least one and perhaps two candidates to oppose Colonel Burns at the extra session.

3. The extra session will not be convened unless it is assured an election will result.

As regards the first of these points, it may be mentioned that Grant would not have withdrawn from the fight at this time unless he had been absolutely certain that an extra session is inevitable. Just how he got his information is not exactly clear, even to the Burns people, but it is a settled fact that he received the news straight from the shoulder and in such a way that satisfied him that there was no hope for himself.

Some people have been of the opinion that the visit of his brother, General Fred Grant, may have had something to do with his change of heart, the suggestions in that line being that the national administration, in its desire to end all factional strife before the Presidential campaign, induced Fred to work on his brother to lay aside his ambitions for awhile.

This, however, is denied, for it is said that Fred Grant, while at dinner with his brother and a mutual friend, stated that he could not conceive why he had been suddenly ordered to Manila. His lines were pleasantly laid in Porto Rico, he said, when suddenly along came the notification to proceed to the Philippines. As for politics, General Fred had no knowledge whatever of the intricacies of the situation or the desires of the Administration regarding it.

As a matter of fact, the solution to the problem of why Grant withdrew can doubtless be found on financial grounds. Although there is no positive reason for making the statement, it is assumed by those who have been watching the situation closely that he decided to throw no more good money after bad. The Sacramento campaign and the expenses preliminary thereto are said to have reduced his bank account fully $35,000, and since adjournment he found that the plans of his friends included a continuance of the drain. In order to keep up his organization, his friends kept drawing on him, and in the seclusion of his southland home it began to dawn upon him that he was a pretty "good thing." Looking ahead, he could see that a continuance of his fight meant the outlay of untold thousands more dollars, with no assurance of reward in the end. So he sagely came to the conclusion that the game was not worth the candle, and announced his withdrawal from the arena forthwith.

As to whether or not Grant will emerge again politically is problematical. It can be regarded as a sure thing that he will not do so next year, even if the extra session should not be held, but on the issue of his being a candidate four years hence there is some doubt. It is authoritatively announced that if Perkins is a candidate Grant will not be, but should Perkins be out of the fight, then a strong effort will be made to induce Grant to try again and rely on the influences Perkins can throw to him in addition to his own strength.

CANDIDATES IN SIGHT.

On the score of opposition developing against Col. Burns in the event of an extra session, it looks as if Bulla will come up from the south as a candidate, and that the old-time leaders of the Grant combination will inject a new man into the fight from San Francisco. Bulla has already declared his intention of shying his castor into the ring, while as for the San Francisco bidder, his name is kept secret for the present, but will, it is said, be announced soon.

Just who this mysterious aspirant can be is a mere matter of guesswork. Those who claim to have made the preliminary arrangements with him say that he is one of the leading men of the metropolis, that he is well known as being anti-machine, that he is an individual who will command the respect of the community, and that he was not even mentioned as a Senatorial candidate at the last session. Outside of this somewhat general description, though, no details will be given as to his identity, the only clews obtained in that line being of a negative character, for it is denied that he is Horace Davis or Hugh Craig. It is, however, admitted, that he is neither a merchant nor a lawyer, so that may help out those who are good at political conundrums.

That Hugh Craig may make another bid for the office is considered more likely, while the name of Mike Hecht is also occasionally heard. Van R. Paterson's candidacy has again been broached, but the mention of his name was the signal for an outburst of some of Grant's former lieutenants, who are evidently strongly opposed to the ex-Supreme Justice.

M. H. de Young has been occasionally spoken of, too, but those who are in touch with the inner political circle say that he has changed his ambitions and is now seeking one of the European missions. He scarcely expects to land one of the big embassadorships, but he has an idea that he might secure one of the leading portfolios as Minister.

THE GOVERNOR'S ATTITUDE.

As to the question of whether or not the extra session can be considered a certainty, an affirmative answer can with confidence be made. It is true that Governor Gage persists in denying all intention of calling the law-makers together, but those who can read between lines are advised to study closely the language in which he sets forth his stand.

"My position regarding an extra session is in no wise changed," he says, "since I expressed an opinion at the adjournment of the Legislature."

Very true, but those who will dig up the opinion he refers to and read it over carefully will find that all the foundations for an extra session are therein laid. It should certainly not need very much argument to induce the belief that an extra session will be held, when Gage's friendship for Burns is taken in consideration, with Grant's retirement thus practically leaving the Colonel a walk-over. All that the Governor is waiting for now is to receive absolute assurance that when the extra session is called another deadlock will not ensue. When that point is settled all will be over but the shouting, and the shouting will be for Colonel Burns.

STATE PATRONAGE.

The disposition of Gubernatorial patronage has been one of the features of the week, for, although the Code Commissioners have not exactly been named, the hint given out by the Governor before he left for Los Angeles was broad enough. As originally predicted by the Tribune, one of the places will go to George Denis of Los Angeles, one to A. R. Freeman, the author of "Freeman on Judgments," and the third will be tendered to ex-Justice Van Fleet. It is possible, however, that Van Fleet may not accept, as he has told some of his friends that he would not do so. In this event, it is believed that M. M. Estee stands next on the list. Senator Morehouse is also high up in favor.

The distribution of the patronage of the Board of Health is proving a very knotty problem, for there are 185 applications already in for the dozen or so inspectorships that are available, and a similar proportion for the other places. Then, there is the contest to be overcome that the incumbents intend to make against being removed, so a rather lively condition of affairs prevails at present in that department.

The intention is to organize with Leon Dennery as secretary and Dr. Lawlor as Health Officer and leave the other patronage open for a week or two, until a way out of the many difficulties can be obtained. Dennery is in luck, for he lands a nice plum of $2,100 a year, while Lawlor is made happy with a $3,000 salary.

So far the only candidate for attorney to the Board is Bush Fennell. Garrett McEnerny will hold on as long as he can, for the $3,000 salary he receives therefrom is by him generously donated to the widow of Denis Spencer. Spencer was McEnerny's predecessor as attorney for the Board, and furthermore it was in Spencer's office at Napa that McEnerny received his early training.

THE PORT WARDENS.

The troubles of the Port Wardens appointed by the Governor have been well ventilated during the week, but to a certain extent a wrong construction has been placed on their positions. Instead of being hopelessly tied up, it is said that the Governor's office is in possession of a decision of the United States Courts in a New Orleans case that bears directly upon the present matter and assures them their places.

The tangle has been the medium of setting all sorts of good stories afloat regarding the land lubbers who have from time to time been appointed Port Wardens. One is on Senator Braunhart, and as the yarn goes it occurred on the occasion of his first attempt at his duties. He boarded a ship that had just docked and told the captain that he wanted to examine the hatch.

The skipper, who saw that he had a greenhorn to contend with, replied: "Oh, we have no hatches on this ship—you will only find them on three-masters and steamers."

"That's so," said Braunhart, trying to keep from blushing and revealing his ignorance. "I made a mistake about the size of your ship. Good day."

HERE AND THERE.

The Paris Commissioners have officially entered upon the discharge of their duties, and Secretary Gaskill has got his department going. Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill expect to leave for Paris in the early part of January next.

Ex-Senator Voorheis of Amador has been passing a few days in town. The Senator has recently invested in some additional mining property and is said to be heading fast toward the realm of the millionaires.

Al Lindley, formerly keeper of the archives in the Secretary of State's office, has gone back to his old home in Los Angeles for awhile. He expects to land, though, under the State administration ere long.

Charles D. Lane, the well-known mining man, will leave shortly for the Klondike. The Berry boys of Fresno are also going north again soon.

Major Frank McLaughlin has turned his back on his summer home at Santa Cruz for a few days and is around town.

Ex-Senator Jones is down from Oroville.

Colonel Burns is not going East, as has been reported, that is, not at present. He has been confined to his home for a couple of days this week by a slight indisposition, but is around again now.

Sackett Cornell, a newspaper man well known in Oakland, has taken up his residence at Everett, Puget Sound, where Major Harry Patton now lives.

Secretary of State Charles Curry has gone East for a two months' trip.

Grape-Nuts
THE FAMOUS FOOD

USE PRESERVES THE TEETH

The finest specimens of teeth are seen in animals and human beings who chew the food thoroughly.

Dentists agree that teeth must be used to properly preserve them and therefore they urge people to chew their food thoroughly, but the nervous, hurried manner of eating is altogether too common among Americans and when fed on soft mushes they are liable to swallow the food without chewing.

Dyspepsia and bad teeth are the result if this practice is continued. True one can eat soft food without detriment if the necessity of chewing is remembered. Grape-Nuts are so crisp and brittle and withal so pleasant to the taste that the user can not forget to chew and thus the teeth get the necessary use and the glands of the gums are made to give the juices that Nature intends shall be mixed with the food before it enters the stomach.

These are not the only reasons why those who eat Grape-Nuts look nourished and well fed. Price 15 cts. per package.

FINE SHOWING AT ST. FRANCIS.

Closing Exercises of the School a Great Success.

The closing exercises at St. Francis de Sales Parochial School Thursday afternoon were very interesting. The program was a varied one and was enjoyed by a large audience. The first number on the program was a chorus by the entire school. The Misses Rice, Gallagher and Kehoe in a piano trio were roundly applauded. Forty boys equipped with small guns sang. Those who participated were: Miles Harrington, Tom Griffin, Harold McKinnon, Arthur Mulvany, George Peterson, Francis Berrien, Nelson Norman, John Coots, Albert Bischoff, Edward Dunne, Winfrid McKinnon, John Kennedy, Maurice Castro, Peter Duffy, Louis O'Connor, Herbert Townsend, Hugh Cavanagh, Mervin Henriques, Tom Hogan, Frank Rampe, Robert Hurly, Glean Gould, Leo Birchoff, Raymond Naughten, W. Kelleher, Charles McGall, George Le Veque, Francis Crowley, Lawrence Downey, Leo Donlan, George Brady, Francis O'Connell, Gus Regan, Francis Feeney, Claude Follehey, Geo. Davis, Willie Mott, Will McCall, Chas. Moul, Louis Angell and Arthur Angell.

A recitation class of children dressed in white did very well. They were: Ada Hanlin, Veronica Dunne, Christine Schramm, Ruth Subers, Ruth Manning, Mary Hughes, Barbara Mott, Hubertine Keljer, Rose Perry, Mary Coots, Gertrude McGrath, Anna Ahern, Frances McGrath, Mary Sexton, Floretto Barbagelata, Cecile O'Connell, Teresa Barbagelata, May Gillick, Annie Kennedy, Margaret McDonough, Veronica Crowley, Petronella Winkler, Ida Crowley, Ida Winkler, Ariadne Crisman, Katie Hanley, Katie Carey, Clair Norman, Delphine Brown, Stasia McGrath and May Baily.

A sword drill and recitation entitled, "Charge of the Light Brigade" was well executed by a class of young ladies. The participants were: Mabel Casavant, captain; Kathleen Gallagher, Marguerite Fleming, Leota Kelly, Annie Ryan, Mary Kehoe, Katie Healy, May Feneran, Agnes Gilligan, Alice Shea, Katie Daugery, May Wilson and Mary McDonald.

Miss E. V. Gallagher and Miss M. Kehoe rendered a piano duet. The Misses E. and M. Gallagher and Miss M. Kehoe played an overture on the mandolins and piano. Then came the cantata, "Characteristic Songs of the Nations." The cantata was well rendered. Miss M. A. Gallagher and Miss P. McInnes, gowned in white, opened the cantata with recitations, the Spirit of Song and the Spirit of Music. Then followed the choruses, English, German, Tyrolean, Italian and French. All were appropriately dressed. Those who took part were: Florence Feneran, Alice Spencer, Frances Hogan, Helen Hogan, Nannie Hunt, Agnes Winckler, Gladys Tennant, Constance Mulvany, May White, Veronica Lyman, Maggie Shea, Kathleen Gallagher, Eleanor Gallagher, Leota Kelly, Mary Fleming, Margaret Rice, Annie Ryan, Marguerite Fleming, Mary Kehoe, Gertrude Hanley, Eva Slavish, Annie McDonald, Katie Ryan, Flossie Grubbe, Mary Mulvaney, Loretta Feneran, Lillian Falion, Jennie Sexton, Katie Healy, Nellie Shea, John McGovern, Lizzie Ryan, Nellie Griffin, Elizabeth Hahn, Katie Fleming, Josie Hoenisch, Mary McDonald, May Feneran, Agnes Gilligan, Noma Kenney, Alice Rutherford, May Wilson.

Miss K. Gallagher, Miss M. Casavant, Miss E. Gallagher and Miss M. Kehoe are deserving of special mention.

The Rev. Father McSweeney, the popular pastor of the parish, conferred the degrees of honor on the graduates. Those who graduated were Misses Eleanor V. Gallagher, Margaret A. Gallagher and Frances M. McInnes.

Handsome premiums were awarded the following for application: Annie Ryan, May Fineran, Mary McDonald, Katie Haly, Alice Rutherford, May White, Mabel Broad, Lillian Joyce, Cecelia O'Connor, Charlie Moul, Francis Feeny, Miles Harrington.

A special gold medal was awarded Fannie McInnes for church history and a second was received by Mabel Casavant for general excellence. Those who were presented the gold cross for Sunday attendance were Mary Manning, May Wilson, Loretta Fennean, Jennie Ketjen, Mary McGrath and Lawrence Downey.

Father McSweeney is entitled to great credit for his work in the parish as well as the faithful teachers in his school. The exercises were in every respect a credit to the pastor.

JOAQUIN MILLES WILL LECTURE FOR CHARITY.

Something entirely unique in the way of entertainment will be afforded the citizens of Oakland on Thursday evening of next week, when Joaquin Miller, The Poet of the Sierras' will lecture at the Macdonough Theater on "Our Artic Empire." This will be the first public appearance of Mr. Miller in this city since his return from the Klondike.

In the interval he has travelled extensively in the East, where he has drawn immense crowds to listen to his graphic description of the Klondike country and other portions of Alaska.

This lecture by Mr. Miller is delivered gratuitously by him for the benefit of the Associated Charities, which is handicapped in its relief work by a debt, incurred during the recent hard times, incidental to the removal of its office, and wood yard and employment bureau to a more central and suitable location.

SUMMER SERVICE AT THE CHURCH.

There will be no interruption of services during the summer at the First Unitarian Church. The pastor, Rev. J. T. Sunderland, will preach every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He announces three short series of special summer sermons, for June and July, as follows:

God in Nature—June 11th, "The Grandeur of Mountains;" June 18th, "The Symbolism of the Sea;" June 25th, "The Glory of the Night Skies."

Religion in the Poets—July 2d, "The Religion of Lowell;" July 9th, "The Religion of Whitman;" July 16th, "The Religion of Whittier."

Memorable Sundays abroad—July 23d, "A Sunday in Rome. At St. Peter's and the Catacombs;" July 30th, "A Sunday in Florence. With Dante and Savonarola;" August 6th, "A Sunday on the Mount of Olives. Gethsemane, Calvary, and Jerusalem."

The Sunday school of the church will be suspended from June 11th to August 1st. But in its place there will be a Children's Service every Sunday morning at 9:45, with singing, responses, worship, and a series of talks by the pastor on "Lessons from Great Americans," illustrated by lantern views. The subjects of the talks will be: June 11th, "The Pilgrim Fathers. A visit to Plymouth;" June 18th, "Washington. The Story of His Life;" June 25th, "Washington. A Visit to Mout Vernon;" July 2d, "Franklin. A Visit to Philadelphia;" July 9th, "Longfellow. A Visit to His Home in Cambridge;" July 16th, "Poems of Longfellow. Special Illustrations of Village Blacksmith;" July 23d, "Lessons from Nature. A Visit to Niagara;" July 30th, "Lincoln. A Visit to the National Capitol."

Parties | Weddings | Receptions

The first of the June weddings was a very pretty affair—as sweet and charming as we always knew that Jessie Glascock's wedding would be. It was just like her—gentle and womanly and unassuming. It is my private opinion that young Mr. Baldwin has won a treasure.

The marriage took place at the Glascock home on Jackson street, which was beautifully decorated. The bridal bower in the front drawing room was of tall white lilies against a background of green vines and branches. A loving cup, filled with orange blossoms, was the final and graceful touch added by Miss Amy McKee. The mantel was banked with La France roses and pink sweet peas. In the hall and the back drawing room the decorations were pink and green. The whole house was softly lit with white candles and the afternoon light excluded. The effect was charming.

At two o'clock a string orchestra in the hall played the wedding march from Lohengrin and the bridal party came in from the rear hallway. Miss Glascock leaned on her father's arm and was preceded by her bridesmaids, Miss Belle Mhoon, her dearest friend, and Miss Francis Baldwin, a sister of the groom. In the drawing room the party was joined by the groom and his best man, Allen G. Wright. Rev. Robert Ritchie of St. Paul's read the marriage service.

The bride's gown was a trained one of heavy white satin, with a yoke of tucked tulle. The lace which trimmed the yoke and the white pearls were the same which had been worn by Mrs. Glascock on her wedding day. The skirt opened at the front in an overskirt effect to show the ruffled tulle and lace which ornamented the satin petticoat. The white tulle veil was caught by orange blossoms to the high coiffure. The bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids looked almost like brides themselves with their short English veils. Belle Mhoon, who is soon to be a bride, never looked more fair and sweet. The bridesmaids' gowns were of white organdie over white taffeta, with white bowknots and the flowers were pink sweet peas.

There were sixty-six guests who sat down to the very dainty breakfast. The dining room was decorated in pink and the bride's table was beautiful with its pink sweet peas, orange blossoms and white tulle bows. There were many gifts, all of them beautiful and many of them costly. As the guests were all relatives or very intimate friends the congratulations meant more than usual and the good wishes were unusually heartfelt.

The destination of the bridal couple was kept a secret, but they drove away very smiling and happy, the bride in a gown of gray and blue, with a pretty velvet hat.

Most of the guests were young, which made the assemblage very gay and pretty to look at. Mrs. Colonel Long and Amy McKee looked specially well and there were many new frocks planned particularly for sweet Jessie Glascock's wedding.

There's a brand new engagement—another Baldwin by the way. This time it is Mr. Frank Baldwin, the youngest son of the island millionaire and Miss Harriet W. Kittredge of Oakland, who has made several visits to the Hawaiian Islands. Young Mr. Baldwin's papa is of missionary extraction and has no end of money. The Baldwins live on Maui and the only daughter of the house married Joe Cook, formerly of Oakland. All the Baldwin boys were educated at Yale. The Kittredges are very pleased. The announcement was made at an informal gathering of Miss Kittredge's friends, summoned by telephone on Thursday afternoon. Miss Kittredge and merry Berenice Landers will be neighbors in the beautiful Islands.

Next week there will be two weddings in society—those of Miss Grace Gorrill and Miss Lizzie Watt. There will also be the marriage of Miss Anna Maria Landstrom and Dr. Winthrop Osterhout, which will take place on Saturday, June 17th, at the residence of the bride's parents on Telegraph avenue, Berkeley.

The prettiest tea of the week was given by Miss Grace Sanborn yesterday at her lovely home in Fruitvale, which is at its prettiest just now. Miss Sanborn is one of the young girls, very pretty and very popular, with a sweet mother and some attractive brothers and a very swell young sister coming on. The Sanborn home in Fruitvale is very large, and built in handsome grounds which are lovely to wander in. Miss Sanborn, who is tall, with lovely brown eyes, which look out earnestly at you, was all in white and on the steps and in the hallway stood a bevy of young women in pretty summer frocks, receiving in the most informal fashion imaginable.

Among those who assisted were Miss Florence Hush, Miss Jean Howard, Miss Beatrice Steele, Miss Elsie Bennett, Miss Deming, Miss Pauline Fore, Mrs. George Hammer, Mrs. Callaghan, the Misses Moffitt, Miss Berenice Landers, Miss Carmen Moore and ever so many others. Mrs. E. B. Sanborn also assisted. There were a great many guests, middle-aged, young and very young, for you know no one is ever old in Oakland. The Moffitt girls looked well in chic gowns of organdie. Mrs. George Hammer wore a smart frock of white taffeta, flowered with sweet peas and striped with red velvet, the Kenna girls and Jean Howard were pretty in white muslin dresses, while those from the city wore handsome silks and more elaborate gowns. Miss Steele's dress was blue and white, slipped off the shoulders in that style which so particularly becomes her. Bernice Landers wore a handsome dress of blue and Carmen Moore, who has considerable style, was in a combination of brown and yellow and white. Miss Florence Hush wore white cloth with gold bow-knots.

The hours of the tea were from three to seven and after the guests were gone supper was served for fifty—all the girls who received and and equal number of young men. I enjoyed that the best of all. The supper was awfully nice and as I had carefully abstained from eating during the afternoon I had a vigorous appetite, because of my arduous duties of entertaining, though, in truth, we had nothing at all to do except to stand around and look pretty and talk to our friends. We had our hands and faces read incidentally, Miss Davenport of Berkeley telling all our fortunes. She is so charming and always trying to make some one have a nice time—in fact, she is one of the most obliging and good-natured girls I ever met.

Miss Lukens is entertaining extensively since the announcement of her engagement. She is casting her bread upon the waters hoping that it will return before many days—that is, before it is water-soaked and spoiled. Her guests were again the young married women of her acquaintance—another set from the one she entertained a fortnight ago.

The talk of the week has been the Armes-Peterson affair in the Oakland Free Library which is quite sensational when you come to consider the gravity of the partially-admitted charges. It is really a serious offense. Professor Armes has friends but he also has many enemies for he is anything but popular at the University. He is a graduate of the institution but by no means a distinguished one and the reason for his long detention as a teacher of English has often been sought but still remains unanswered. Every one has been hoping that the charges against Mr. Armes will not be taken up by the Grand Jury for it is a penal offense you know, with large fines and imprisonment in the State's Prison as a penalty. It would be perfectly dreadful if Mr. Armes were to be sent over the bay and were obliged to have that lovely beard clipped off. He wears, you know, a beard like the Chandos portrait of Shakespeare, for though he does not write like the master, he is at least able to look like him.

Mr. Armes had a dreadful time of it with the reporters. This is a little conversation that transpired between the instructor and one of the newspaper men from San Francisco.

Place, Oakland Ferry.

Newspaper Man. "Mr. Armes, I understand that you're a Googoo." To the uninitiated, it may be explained that a "googoo" is a goody-goody person.

"I a Googoo?" exclaimed Mr. Armes, indignantly. "Now that is nonsense. Why, I'm a member of the Bohemian and Press Clubs."

Newspaper man. "Well, people say so in Oakland."

Armes. "Well, I'll just give the lie to that statement. Come and have a drink."

Quite a little comedy of errors has been enacted in Oakland over the announcement of the engagement of Miss Marie L. McDermott of Oakland to Austin N. Walton of San Francisco. It seems that there are two Marie L. McDermotts in Oakland, one of them being the well known society girl. Her parents immediately denied the engagement after the Wave had published it and had gone at length into the ancestry of Miss McDermott, she being the granddaughter of Mr. Main of Main and Winchester. The denial caused much embarrassment to Mr. Walton, who did not know where he stood and who hastened over to demand an explanation of his sudden relapse in favor. It transpires that the real Miss McDermott is a daughter of the late Bernard McDermott and has been prominent in Red Cross work in Oakland.

Everybody is leaving town for the summer as rapidly as possible. Last week the Merry Tramps, composed of half of East Oakland, left for their camp grounds at Healdsburg, where they have camped for several years. They will live luxuriously as they always do.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott and family of East Oakland will spend six weeks camping near Guerneville with friends from Santa Rosa.

Yosemite seems to be the popular place to summer this year. There is a large party from Oakland in the valley now—a party including W. W. Foote and Berlin, the Henshaws, the Gages and several other people. They are having a charming and convivial time, of course, for it is the annual junket of the Commissioners and the State pays the bills.

Miss Helen Richardson of Alameda will leave soon for the Mariposa Big Trees.

Miss Rachel Read of Alameda will leave for the East next week. She has been invited to accompany her grandfather and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kirby of Alameda. The party, which also includes Miss Martha Kirby, will go by way of Yellowstone Park and will spend a week in the Park. After visiting Shasta, Portland and the Park the party will go to Duluth, Minnesota, where they will take steamer and go through three of the great Lakes. At Buffalo they will take the train for Towanda, Pennsylvania, where they will spend the summer. Later there will be visits to New York and Boston, Chicago, and Lincoln, Nebraska. Miss Read does not expect to return to California until the end of February.

The Misses Alice and Helen Siegfried of Alameda who went with their father to Japan about a month ago are having a charming time and have been the recipient of much social attention. The Seigsfrids expect to repain for six months.

Such a funny thing happened to Carmen Moore at a reception the other night. You know how very jolly she is, always chatting and a great talker. As she came down the stairs at this particular house she saw a young man whose face she remembered. There's someone I know, she said to herself. The face was certainly familiar, she thought, but she could not recall the name.

"Charming evening," said Carmen.

The man simply grunted.

"Isn't it a crush?" pursued the girl, trying to place the man. Again he merely nodded, and Carmen thought him extraordinarily rude. Just then he turned to her and said, "Your name, miss, please."

He was the announcer.

It's a rather slim little letter tonight, I know, for nothing has really happened this week—at least nothing very exciting, though we are doing rather well for the first week in June. Next week I hope to have another fine new engagement to confide to you if they'll only let me tell it. Be sure I'll save it for you. I'm your thoughtful friend.

THE MEDDLER.

GLASCOCK--BALDWIN.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Glascock, 529 Jackson street, was the scene on Wednesday afternoon of an extremely pretty wedding, when Miss Jessie, the charming daughter of the home, was united in marriage to Alexander R. Baldwin of San Francisco.

In accordance with the wishes of both families, who are in mourning, the list of guests was not a large one, but all the arrangements were characterized with a quiet elegance befitting the event.

The decorations were beautiful, and were under the supervision of Mrs. Orestes Pierce and Miss Amy McKee.

The hallway and reception room were in pink and green. Masses of sweet peas and evergreens were charmingly arranged in the apartment.

The drawing room, in which the ceremony took place, was a picture with very effective decorations of pink sweet peas and La France roses, combined with maiden-hair fern. The bower in which the bridal party stood was of white ascension lilies, bamboo and trailing vines. A loving-cup filled to overflowing with fragrant orange blossoms was a noticeable feature of the most artistic decorations.

At 2 o'clock the strains of the wedding chorus from "Lohengrin," played by a stringed orchestra concealed by a drapery of vines in the hallway, announced the approach of the bridal party.

Miss Belle Mhoon and Miss Frances Baldwin, the bridesmaids, led the pretty procession, and were followed by the bride, leaning on the arm of her father. They were joined at the bower by the groom and his best man, Allen Wright. Rev. Robert Ritchie, pastor of St. Paul's Church, officiated.

The bride was handsomely gowned in heavy white satin, made en traine and trimmed with rare old lace that had adorned her mother's wedding gown. A veil of tulle was caught and held in place by a spray of orange blossoms. Her ornaments were pearls, which, like the lace, had been worn by her mother on her wedding day. The flowers carried were lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in white organdie made over white silk, and trimmed with lover's knots of white. They wore short tulle veils, as is the English fashion, and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas.

Mrs. Glascock, the mother of the bride, wore a black silk costume, with garniture of white and lavender.

Mrs. Baldwin was attired in an imported gown of black silk, with trimmings of amethyst velvet.

After the ceremony and the congratulations which followed, the guests sat down to the wedding breakfast, which was most daintily served by Hallahan.

The bride's table was most picturesquely decorated with dainty white tulle knots and orange blossoms. Pink sweet peas were strewn over the cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin left on their honeymoon, carrying with them the happy wishes of a host of friends.

The invited guests were: Mrs.

The invited guests were: Mrs. J. S. Wall, the Misses Wall, Mrs. A. R. Baldwin, Mrs. Beardsley, Miss Baldwin, Mrs. S. B. YOLLAND RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Riley gave a delightful reception at their home, 2015 Fifteenth street, San Francisco, on Thursday evening, June 1st, in honor of H. W. Yolland and his bride, formerly Miss Hester Tourn of Windsor, England. Mr. Yolland was until lately a vestryman of St. Andrew's Church, Oakland. The parish was well represented in welcoming his return from beyond the sea. The evening was most pleasantly spent in the rendering of instrumental and vocal selections, after which refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sandison, Mrs. Whaite, Mr. and Mrs. H. Manuel, Mr. and Mrs. M. Bremner, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bokee, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bokee, Mr. and Mrs. El Thrall, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Yolland, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Riley, Miss Atthowe, Miss Alma Bokee, Miss Nellie Bensfield, Miss Jennie Dyer, Misses Elizabeth and Hannah Dennis, Miss Sadie Fairfield, Miss Margaret Jackson, Misses Minnie and Hattie McLeod, Miss Sandison, Miss Whaite, Messrs. Reginald Atthowe, James J. Beatty, Henry N. Beatty, Max Brasch, Ollie Fairfield, W. B. Hindle, Arthur Jackson, Thomas E. Kent.

Mr. and Mrs. Yolland will make their future home in Santa Clara.

JOHNSON--PHILLIPS.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Paul's Church on Monday, when the Rev. Robert Ritchie in the presence of a large number of invited guests, united in marriage Frederick Phillips and Miss Agnes Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson of 1016 West street.

The edifice was tastefully decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. The chancel rail was hidden beneath a wreath of white and pink sweet peas. Above the spot where the young couple stood during the ceremony, was suspended, on a rope of flowers, a wedding bell of white sweet peas, pink roses and ferns. About the altar was arranged a pretty background of potted palms and ferns.

Promptly at 10 o'clock, the bridal party entered the church and proceeded up the aisle, while the strains of the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" pealed forth under the skilled touch of James Pollitt, who presided at the organ.

First, came Miss Keifer, the bridesmaid walking alone. She was followed by the bride leaning on the arm of her father. The bridal procession was met at the chancel by Rev. Dr. Ritchie, the groom and his best man, Bert Rowley.

During the ceremony, old English airs in subdued tones, were rendered by the organist. At the close of the service "America" was played.

As the bridal party moved slowly toward the entrance to the church, joyful strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" rang out.

The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white satin. Her tulle veil was caught and held in place by a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Keifer wore a white organdie gown made over pink silk. She carried pink sweet peas.

A shower of rice greeted the bride and groom as they emerged from the church.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, which was followed by a reception.

A noticeable decoration at the home was a profusion of American flags, and the English colors side by side.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips departed on the afternoon train for Santa Cruz, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in this city.

Mr. Phillips is a member of the firm of Phillips & Rowley, fruit and produce merchants. He is a prominent member of the Sons of St. George, and is popular with a large number offriends.

The bride is an accomplised planist, and enjoys an enviable reputation in musical circles.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson, Miss Agie Cooper, Miss Josie Keffer, Miss W. W. Duncan, Miss J. Pollitt, Miss S. Rolon, Miss May Spencer, Miss Katie Mullen, Miss Carrie King, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dingle, Mr. and Mrs. B. King, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Roberts, Mrs. E. J. Read, L. M. Balou, George Fake, A. J. Wilson, B. H. Rowen, H. Spencer and C. Johnson.

ATWOOD--KITCHEN.

Miss Lorena Atwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Atwood, and Andrew Kitchen of Lorin, were united in marriage last Sunday evening, at the Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. C. Keetch.

Miss Lizzie Blanchard, a cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and George Nickerson acted as best man.

The pretty bride looked charming in her wedding finery.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple and invited guests adjourned to the home of the bride where a wedding repast awaited them.

Many toasts and congratulatory speeches were given and responded to.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen, after their return from their honeymoon will reside in Lorin.

SURPRISE BANQUET.

Last Monday evening, a most delightful banquet was given Mr. Daniel Grant by the railroad officials and employes of the Oakland Transit Company.

Mr. Grant has been division superintendent of the company for a long while, and is about to resign his position, and his friends assembled on Monday evening to show their appreciation of his services, and their regard for him, being led into the banquet hall, where about fifty of his friends were seated.

An elaborate menu was served, after which Mr. Robinson on behalf of those assembled presented Mr. Grant with a handsome watch, fob and charm.

The charm was of gold in the form of a French horn. A miniature electric car, beneath which were Mr. Grant's initials in raised letters, were on one side. On the reverse was the inscription, "Presented by the Piedmont Boys, June 18, 1896."

Mr. Grant responded very feelingly, after which short speeches were made by several members of the company.

Toasts, songs and speeches enlivened the evening, and the occasion was a most agreeable one.

Mr. Grant is one of the most popular men in the company, and a general feeling of regret prevails that he is about to give up his position.

MESEROLE--ATKINS.

Miss Bessie Meserole and George W. Atkins were married on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Meserole, 1404 Pacific avenue, Alameda.

Miss Clara Atkins, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid, and Richard Meserole acted as groomsman.

The house was tastefully decorated with roses, carnations and sweetpeas.

The ceremony was performed under a wedding bell of flowers, the Rev. W. W. Scudder, Jr., pastor of the First Congregational church of Alameda, officiating.

Mendelsshon's "Wedding March" was played by Miss Sadie Rice as the bridal party entered the room and took up a position in the bay window.

The bride was charmingly gowned in French organdie, made over white taffeta, and carried a bunch of white carnations.

The bridesmaid wore a pretty gown of white taffeta.

After the ceremony a reception took place. A short musical program was given, numbers being rendered by Miss Sadie Rice, Miss Clara Atkins, George Hammersmith and Richard Meserole.

An elaborate wedding repast was served, covers being laid for sixty guests on the long tables in the pretty dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkins left for a two weeks' trip to Ben Lomond, and on their return will reside in an attractive home in Alameda.

GOODRICH--MORTIMER.

A notable wedding took place on Wednesday, when Miss Grace Beatrice Goodrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodrich of San Francisco, became the bride of Franklin Cogswell Mortimer.

The Rev. O. E. Hotle of Golden Gate officiated.

Miss Murilla Goodrich was the bride's attendant and Lester Smith acted as best man.

Miss Goodrich is prominent in society circles in this city, as well as in San Francisco, and a charming young lady.

Mr. Mortimer is a relative of Oliver Wendell Holmes. He is employed in the Bank of California, and is popular with a large number of friends.

The young couple will reside in Alameda.

THE PERKINS' DINNER.

Senator and Mrs. George Perkins gave a most delightful dinner, on Sunday, in honor of Captain and Mrs. Charles Goodall, who depart this week for an extended European tour.

The decorations were in tones of pink. Bunches of pink carnations and ferns, and loops of pink ribbons, ornamented the table.

The guests who enjoyed the hospitality of Senator and Mrs. Perkins were Captain and Mrs. Charles Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodall, Captain and Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. Keil, Miss Marguerite Bruntsch, Miss Bew of Alameda, Mr. Dean, and the members of the family, including Miss May Perkins, Miss Parsy Perkins and Clement Perkins.

FUTURE WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Annabel McDonald and Herbert Coke Wyckoff will take place next Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents in San Francisco.

The young people are graduates of the State University and members of the class of '96.

Mr. Wyckoff is a very bright young man. He was admitted to the bar about a year ago, and practices at Watsonville.

Next month, the day of which is yet to be decided upon, the marriage of Miss Girlie Easton, daughter of the Rev. A. M. Easton of Berkeley, and Frederick Wyckoff will be solemnized.

In this case, also, both are graduates of the university and were popular members of the college fraternities.

Mr. Wyckoff is engaged in the insurance business with his father in San Francisco.

KEENE--MILTON.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Agnes' Church in San Francisco, at high noon Thursday, when Miss Laura Keene of San Francisco became the bride of Dr. J. L. Milton of this city.

The church was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers. Rev. Father Kirby, a friend of the groom, officiated.

The bride was given away by her brother, Gus Owen of Sacramento. Miss Mollie McKee was the bride's attendant and Dr. H. F. Sullivan, of this city, was the best man. John E. McElroy acted as usher.

The bride looked charming in a handsome white silk gown made en train. She wore a bridal veil of white tulle.

Miss McKee wore a gown of corn color silk with a handsome hat with trimmings of the same color.

After the ceremony, the guests adjourned to the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Keene, 1033 California street, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served.

The residence was nicely decorated in a color scheme of green and white. White roses, sweet peas and large ferns were used in abundance.

Immediately after the reception which followed the wedding breakfast, Dr. and Mrs. Milton left for Los Angeles, where their honeymoon will be passed. Their home will be in this city.

Among the guests at the reception were Miss Mollie Milton, Mr. S. A. McKee, Miss McGinn, the Misses McFeely, Miss M. Durkin, Dr. J. M. Kane, J. J. McDonald, Dr. H. Sullivan, John E. McElroy and W. J. Yore of Oakland. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Gus Owen of Sacramento, Mrs. J. M. Burnett, the Misses Burnett, Mrs. Marsheuts, Mr. and Mrs. Keesing, Mrs. James Tormey, the Misses Tormey, Dr. Joseph Tormey of Sacramento.

Dr. Milton is one of the most popular of the younger physicians in this city.

Miss Keene is well known here and very popular with a large number of friends.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

An entertainment and social was given on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Berry, 1426 Webster street, by the ladies connected with the summer recreation school.

The program was under the supervision of Mrs. G. W. Bunnell and Miss Gray. The numbers were excellently rendered, and were as follows: May dance, chorus; song, Evelyn Griswold; recitation, Cheryle Merrill; song, Emmet Britton; violin solo, Master Isaacs; recitation, Edna Snyder; song, Frank Baxter; highland fling, in costume, Bessie Howden, Isa Dobbie; song, Frank Baxter and Harold Baxter; piano solo, Llewellyn Peck; song, Elizabeth Orrick; dance, Miss Flossie Emery, accompanist, Mrs. Lercher; violin solo; song, Elizabeth Orrick; recitation, Madge Canfield; violin solo, Bessie Elliott; character song, Frank Baxter and Cheryle Merrill.

An admission fee of twenty-five cents was charged and the proceeds will be devoted to the work.

The object of this very deserving institution is to combine pleasure with study and so interest little children and keep them off the streets during vacation. Many pleasant outings and entertainments are being arranged to take place during the summer.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

An engagement that is of interest to a large number of people of this city, is that of Miss Ida Hampton to Roy Mauvais, which has recently been announced.

Miss Hampton is a very popular young lady and enjoys the friendship of a large circle of friends.

Mr. Mauvais is the eldest son of Mrs. Mae Mauvais and is a successful business man, conducting a music store in San Francisco.

THREE JUNE WEDDINGS.

Three notable weddings are to take place next week and in them is centered an unusual amount of interest.

All of the brides prospective are pretty, popular and accomplished.

The wedding of Miss Marguerite Jolliffe and Dr. Herbert Moffitt will take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jolliffe, 2015 Pacific avenue, San Francisco, on Wednesday at noon.

About 100 relatives and intimate friends have been invited to witness the ceremony.

Miss Grace Gorrill and Mr. Oscar Gowning will be married next Wednesday evening at the home of the bride on Myrtle street.

On next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Watt and Donald Y. Campbell will take place. A large reception will follow the ceremony, and several hundred guests have been invited.

PIANO RECITAL.

The recital given on Wednesday evening at Y. M. C. A. Hall by Mrs. Anna Werner Doyal was a remarkable exhibition of the proficiency attained by her on the piano.

Those who attended were given a rare artistic treat. Mrs. Doyal is one of the finest, if not the leading pianiste on the coast. Her brilliant playing has attracted great attention in musical circles.

The Rhapsodie from Liszt was excellently rendered. The magnificent powers of expression and fine technique displayed proved her a musician of exceptional ability.

The duet "Overture de Guillaume Tell" given by Mrs. Doyal and her father, Ernest Werner, was admirably played.

Duncan Smith gave several delightful vocal solos.

Miss Martha Millar was the elocutionist of the evening, and her work was well received. She shows the effect of careful study and her Scotch dialect work was especially clever.

A PLEASANT PARTY.

A most pleasurable party assembled at the home of Miss Summers at 717 Twentieth street last Thursday evening. The early hours were spent in singing and games, after which a bountiful spread was served in the dining-room. Prof. Kern, Thomas Moran, Meyer Leipsic and Miss Belle Doris responded to toasts.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Seagraves, Mr. and Mrs. Fately, Prof. and Mrs. Kern, Prof. Cramer, Miss Wellman, Misses Summers, Cosgrove, Reeves, Doris, Cline, Leipsic, Hyde, Greer, Messrs. F. C. Summers, Mott, Leipsic, Pierre, Cosgrove and Moran, Madden and Seagraves.

A CANTATA.

The cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," by John Stainer, will be given at the First M. E. Church, corner of Fourteenth and Clay streets, on Sunday evening, June 11th. The choir will be assisted by Edward Xavier Roelker.

SANBORN RECEPTION.

Mrs. E. B. Sanborn and her daughter, Miss Grace Sanborn, were the hostesses at an informal tea yesterday afternoon, which was one of the largest as well as one of the most thoroughly enjoyable events of a pleasant social season.

The hours were from 4 until 7 o'clock, and the handsome Sanborn home on Fruitvale avenue was filled with a representative and fashionable throng.

The rooms were most attractively decorated with flowers and evergreens, and the garden, which is an ideal spot, had a large number of Japanese lanterns arranged about, making a very gay appearance.

The reception room was bright with scarlet geraniums, most effectively placed amid a profusion of large ferns. A quantity of feathery bamboo was also used. In the library, exquisite bowls were filled with eschscholtzias and grasses. Wild vines decorated the pretty mantel and were most artistically arranged with field flowers about the room.

Draperies of Virginia creeper were arranged about the window cornices of the dining room, and fell gracefully to the floor. Masses of white marguerites were banked with pepper branches on the mantel, and were placed with splendid effect about the apartment.

The young ladies who assisted Mrs. Sanborn and her daughter in receiving the guests were Miss Florence Sharon, Miss Pauline Fore, the Misses Jean and Florence Hush, the Misses Alice and Lucy Moffitt, Miss Berenice Landers, Miss Ada English, Miss Martha Alexander, Miss Jean Howard, Miss Ida Gibbons, the Misses Fannie and Josie Loughborough, Miss Marietta Havens, Miss Carmen Moore, Mrs. C. O. Alexander, Mrs. G. Hammer, Mrs. William Ralston, Mrs. Will Landers, Miss Elsie Marwedel, Miss Florence Demming, Mrs. William Callaghan, Miss Emma Grimwood, Miss Annie Clay, Miss Sadie Sinclair, Miss Margaret Sinclair, Mrs. Robert Lee Stephenson, Mrs. Albert Cohen, Miss Edith Selby, Miss Beatrice Still, Miss Elsie Bennett, Miss Mamie Polhemus and Miss Sadie Hale.

A string orchestra under the direction of Juch entertained the visitors during the afternoon.

Delicious refreshments were served by Hallahan and a corps of assistants, on small tables, daintily decorated, in the dining room.

Among the invited guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Charles Dougherty, the Misses Dougherty, the Misses Oge, Miss Towney, the Misses Palmer, Miss Warfield, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Keeney, Miss Blakeman, the Misses Roberts, Miss Jessie Fillmore, the Misses Woods, Mrs. Wickham Havens, the Misses Gage, Miss Chabot, the Misses Hamilton, Miss Edith Stubbs, the Misses Spreckels, Miss Ellinwood, Miss M. Denman, Mrs. Albert Sutton, Mrs. Grimwood, Miss Crockett, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, the Misses Salisbury, Miss Mary Foster, the Misses Crosby, Miss Bernice Drown, Miss Bessie Ames, Miss Olive Holbrook, Miss Helen Wagner, Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, Miss Mary Kipp, Mrs. Colonel Edie, Miss Bertha Wilcox, Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. McKinstry, Miss Jennie Blair, Mrs. Vail, Mrs. Frank Vail, the Misses Drum, Mrs. Chipman, Miss Alice Chipman, Miss Davis, Miss Viva Callaghan, Mrs. Lieutenant Baly, Mrs. Arthur Thomson, Miss Mollie Conners, the Misses Kate and Laura Scott, Miss Ruth Gedney, Miss Edith Stubbs, Mrs. Will Henshaw, Mrs.

NEWS OF ALAMEDA COUNTY

WHAT IS HAPPENING IN ALL THE TOWNSHIPS AROUND US.

BERKELEY.

BERKELEY, June 10.—It is stated that Trustee C. D. Maloney, formerly Chief Deputy County Recorder, will be appointed manager of the Berkeley Electric Lighting Company. There are over fifty candidates for the position, but Maloney seems to have the inside track. At present he represents the Sixth ward on the Town Board, which position he will probably soon resign.

SOCIAL FIREMEN.

A social club has been organized by the members of the Alert Fire Company. The following officers have been elected: President, F. W. Lockyer; vice-president, Albert Miller; secretary, George Horgan; treasurer, Richard Rowe; sergeant-at-arms, Court Moar.

FELL FROM A SWING.

Miss Mary Overman, daughter of E. C. Overman, fell from a swing at North Berkeley yesterday afternoon and besides being badly shaken up, received a severe contusion over the right eye.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

ALAMEDA.

ALAMEDA, June 10.—The City Trustees held an executive session last night for the purpose of making inquiry as to how the various offices in the City Hall are run. The inquiry originated with Trustee Mackie, but that gentleman was not present, being in Bakersfield. City Clerk Lamborn went before the Trustees and was questioned a great deal about the electric light works, but an adjournment was taken without any conclusion or report having been reached or decided upon.

FIREMEN IN TROUBLE.

At a meeting of the Board of Firemen and Engineers of the Fire Department last night, it was decided to expel W. Crozer and suspend H. L. Sousa for a year from the Sherman Hose Company. The offense alleged was disobedience to the orders of Acting Foreman A. L. Cumbers at a fire on St. Charles street about a month ago. The accused were ordered to take a line of hose into a burning building and refused to do so on the ground that they had to go to work.

GOING TO TRAMP AND CAMP.

A party consisting of Charles F. Fletcher and wife, Justice Morris, wife and son and Captain M. W. Simpson will go on a camping trip to Lassen, Trinity, Shasta and Siskiyou counties. They will travel the entire distance in a private conveyance, which they have especially fitted up for the outing.

"IT'S CONTAGIOUS."

Miss Florence Delanoy's new comedy, "It's Contagious," was produced last night at Armory Hall, before a large audience. It proved to be a sprightly piece of dramatic work and all the telling points were intelligently brought out by the clever company of amateurs who were in the cast as follows:: "Paul Abbott," a giddy old widower, Mr. Cleaves; "Tom Abbott," his son, Mr. Van Britton; "Cora Abbott," his daughter, Miss Belle McCurrie; "Mrs. Laura Raleigh," a widow, Edith Cook; "Nellie Raleigh," her daughter, Miss Dolly Chapman; "Robert Corson," Laura's brother, Frank Bouterlous; "Molly," servant, Katherine Krieg; "Fritz," man of all work, George Hermance; "Edith," a visitor at Laura's, Marion Eddy; "George Randall," Ben Ramsdell.

GRADUATION PARTY.

The graduating party of the class of June '99, of the Alameda High School, took place last Thursday night in Armory Hall. The apartment was beautifully decorated. Music was furnished by an orchestra from San Francisco. E. L. Jones acted as floor manager. The reception committee comprised Misses Grace Langley, Marguerite Brown, Amelia Hall, Maud Grant, Grace Livingston, Mary Pond and Stephen Babson. The graduates were as follows: Helene M. Abt, Winifred Garfield Agar, Stephen Edwards Babson, Lois Vida Bronson, Margherita Wallace Brown, Gertrude Irene Burr, Mabel Louise Dowing, Maude Ethel Grant, Amelia Spicer Hall, Grace Livingston, Bertha M. Mohlad, Mary Helen Pond, Mabel Grace Rowe, Muriel Ewing Swain. There were 150 dancers.

GOLDEN GATE.

GOLDEN GATE, June 10.—The Mothers' Union of Golden Gate met Wednesday afternoon in the annex of the Presbyterian Church. The meeting was addressed by Rev. O. E. Hotle of the Methodist Church, who spoke on "The Home as a Permanent Factor in the Evolution of Society." The speaker first proceeded to show how family life prevails even in plants and among the lower branches of the animal kingdom, and that in them is found the basis of the family as applied to mankind. He then demonstrated how great is the mother's influence over the child, and what damage could be done by ignorance and neglect. It was explained how children distinguish between good and evil, and how necessary a mother's patience and devotion is.

The union has a children's social on the first Thursday of every month, and at the next meeting, which will be held next Thursday, an attempt will be made to have the social on July 4th, instead of the 6th, the latter being the regular date of the social. In case the date is changed the social will be of a patriotic nature.

Advice of a Druggist

"It is proper, I think, to let others know about the popularity and virtues of Acker's English Remedy for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. From the moment I began handlingit, itsold rapidly, and the sales keep growing all the time as fast as people find out what a remarkable preparation it is. The satisfaction it gives is universal. Our best citizens use it and say it is the best thing for throat and lung troubles they ever saw. Mr. S. H. Culver, one of our prominent townsmen, says Acker's English Remedy is the only medicine that helped his chronic cough of many years' standing. At first it gave relief, and now, after taking a few bottles, he is wholly cured. I buy it by the gross at a time, and my sales are larger on this one medicine than on any other in my store. It is a great pleasure for me to feel that while I am prospering I am also doing so much good to the community in selling such a grand medicine." (Signed R. R. DOUGLAS, Westfield, N. Y.

Sold at 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.

The ladies of the receiving party and about thirty-five gentlemen were entertained at dinner and were invited to remain in the evening.

After dinner the guests adjourned to the "den" which the Messrs. John and Will Sanborn have ornamented with college trophies and many pretty souvenirs collected while on merry excursions and pleasure parties. The furnishings are of red, green and white, the Alpha Delta Phi colors.

Excellent vocal selections were rendered by Burbank Summers, Charles Helman and H. Veeder.

In the evening the festivities partook of the nature of a garden party. The grounds looked most picturesque brightly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and a great bonfire.

In the bungalow there were Persian effects, rugs and couches well supplied with soft cushions. In this place Miss Cooper, a pupil of Mrs. Sanborn, told fortunes and gave readings in palmistry and physiognomy. Outside the bungalow a fire burned brightly, over which a kettle swung on a crane. A more weirdly beautiful scene would be hard to imagine.

Under the spreading branches of a huge cork-elm tree, around which was a hedge of magnolia trees in full bloom, light refreshments were served during the evening.

The function was most elaborately planned, and such careful attention was given to every detail that it was an artistic success.

The gentlemen who attended in the evening were Messrs. Silas Palmer, Roy Belden, Dan Belden, Morton Gibbens, Clarence McKinstry, Thomas Magee, George Lewis, Edward Tobin, Thomas Driscoll, Harry Bradley, Albert Moore, Wallace Alexander, William Callaghan, Arthur Callaghan, Paul Selby, George Hammer, Ed Steele, Carl Howard, Albert Cohen, Albert Van Winkle, C. THE FIRST TELEGRAM.

Joseph Jefferson tells a very amusing anecdote of the effect that the telegraph had on people when it was first established. He says:

"I received my first telegram in Cumberland, Md.: I could not believe it, but there it was, a reply of my letter of the day before. I called at the office to inquire if it were really so. A small group of people had collected about the operator, all wearing a look of incredulity. We began showing one another our dispatches, and looking with respectful awe at the little machine that was ticking away as if worked by some mysterious spirit of the world. The whole town was excited about it. If I were to receive a message from the planet Mars, offering me a star engagement, I could not be more astonished than I was on that day."

The Maid and the Miracle

Miss Lucy Tucker, the daughter of a prominent farmer of Versailles, Ind., was the victim of nervous prostration. Most of the time she was confined to bed, and was on the verge of St. Vitus' dance. It was a pitiful case which medical science failed to conquer. Finally a doctor prescribed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Her father said:

"We began giving the pills at once, and the next day we could see a change for the better in her. We gave her one pill after each meal until she was entirely well. She has not been sick a day since. We think the cure almost miraculous.

FRANK TUCKER, Mrs. F. TUCKER.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Tucker, being duly sworn, state that the foregoing is true in every particular.

HUGH JOHNSON,
Justice of the Peace.

—From the Republican, Versailles, Ind.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., 50 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD.

J. J. Morrissey Loses His Life Near Sunol.

J. J. Morrissey, a laborer was run down and instantly killed by a train on the Southern Pacific line near Sunol last night.

The deceased was walking on the track when train No. 38 approached, knocked him down and mangled him in a shocking manner.

The remains were taken in charge of by Deputy Coroner Schweer of Pleasanton.

Dr. Mehrmann will hold an inquest tonight.

IMROVED PHYSIQUE OF MEN AND WOMEN.

The fine physique with which British girls are now blessed is attributed to the healthier life they lead in consequence of the open air exercise in which they indulge. But, so far as I know, nothing has been said about men. Perhaps the papers imagine they were always as big as they are now. It is interesting, therefore, to look at the tables of the weights of the crews in the university race, showing that they are much heavier than in former years.

From the year 1841 inclusive, until the present day, there was no crew averaging 12 stone (168 pounds) until Oxford, with exactly that weight, won in 1867, the average weight being roughly about 11½ stone 10 pounds. Until the end of 1871 there were only four crews averaging 12 stone or over. From that date till 1877 there were six crews over that weight, but the weights under twelve stone had gone up considerably from the earlier periods. From 1887 until the present time there have only been five crews under 12 stone, both crews in 1888 being under that weight, and the Cambridge crew in 1894 being only a half pound under. So that for the last ten years there have practically speaking, been only two crews under 12 stone. It is certainly significant that the increase of weight in the university crews should have been contemporaneous with the marked physical development of women.

A MAGNETIC ISLAND.

Bornholm Island, a Danish possession in the Baltic sea, is so highly magnetic as to be considered a menace to navigation. It measures about twenty miles in length by fourteen in breadth, and is distant about twenty-four miles east by south from the nearest point of Sweden. It is famous for its geological peculiarities; it consists almost entirely of magnetite. Its magnetic influence is not only known to the navigators of those waters, but is much feared by them on account of its influence on the magnetic needle, which makes the correct steering of a ship a matter of much difficulty. This influence is felt at a distance of ten miles, and so palpably that on the Island being sighted, mariners on the Baltic at once discontinue steering their course by the needle, and turn, instead, to the well-known lighthouses and other signs by which to direct their craft. There are several magnetic islands and points along the Atlantic coast of South America. Near the mouth of the Rio de la Plata is a famous magnetic point—the western side of the headland known as the Punta Negra—and navigators of vessels bound for Buenos Ayres or Montevideo have to be very careful not to go too near it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HOW AN OAKLAND MAN THRASHED THE PRINCE OF WALES

TALE OF A DONKEY

JAS. MILLER'S STORY

"I licked the Prince of Wales; there's no doubt about that," said James Miller, proprietor of the extensive potteries at 125 East Twelfth street, East Oakland, this morning.

"I licked the Prince of Wales, but how under the sun did you hear about it?

"Well, I suppose somebody must have told you, as I have often told the story to my friends, on my journeyings around Oakland. It's quite a story, too.

"There's a good deal that goes with it when all is told. I could tell it to you, too, if I had the time, but, you see, I'm dreadfully busy—at the shops all day—and today I've a fired kiln to watch, and I can hardly spare a quarter of an hour for my dinner.

WERE KIDS TOGETHER.

"What does the public, or the Tribune, care, anyway, about how I thrashed the Prince of Wales when we were both boys in old Portobello, the famous little Scottish potteries town on the south coast of the Firth of Forth, where I was living with my uncle?

"No, I was not learning my trade at that tender age, although I learned it afterwards. We were mere kids then—I and the Prince of Wales—about the same age, I guess. I have not time to tell you what that age was, because the girls are waiting dinner for me, and they know I must hurry to get back to the kiln.

"We were both young, and didn't know any better, and that is why I came to administer to His Royal Highness a right good thrashing, and probably the only one he ever got in his life, although that is not saying it was the only one he ever deserved, splendid fellow that he is.

"But what is the use? What good will this story do the readers of the Saturday Tribune? I prefer to keep it for my friends.

"I'll tell it to you some day when there's time, if you'll come around when my kiln is not firing and when my presses are not going. But you must come, not as a reporter, but as a neighborly visitor, as I have my doubts as to whether it is the correct thing, you know, to tell the great unfeeling public just how and why I came to thrash the Prince of Wales.

THE DONKEYS.

"You see, it was a boy's quarrel about donkeys, or rather, a donkey, the donkey being mine, and the Prince wanting it and not having had a chance to learn at that age that he could not have everything in sight, and I being far too young to dream that he could.

THE THRASHING.

"I was riding my donkey, and the young Prince was going by on foot, with his tutor, having come from the royal summer residence some three miles away from the little Scotch seaport. I suppose he was tired, the little chap. Anyway he rushed upon me, like an infant Robin Hood, and pulled me from my donkey before I knew it. Then, before he knew it, I, being a free-born Britton, hauled off and hit him a good one, a la Jeffries. I followed up my advantage in right good form, being, I suppose, more used to that sort of thing than His Royal Highness. At any rate, I knocked him down and was going all over him before the tutor could make up his mind what it was all about and call time.

FIRST FALL.

"It was first fall for the Prince, because he yanked me off my donkey, but it was my knock-out. The Prince of Wales got the thrashing and I got the stake money, my donkey.

HIS HIGHNESS.

"There's quite a story in this incident, if I only had the time and were not hurrying to my dinner on my busy day and you were not a reporter. In the first place, I dare say that was the beginning of His Royal Highness' taste for the ring. It was the first time he tasted it, at all events.

THE SEQUEL.

"The incident had a sequel, of course. It did not occur just then. So far as I know, the little Prince was taken off the field by his titled bottle-holder and put to bed. I'm afraid my turn for a thrashing came in later, when my good uncle came to a realizing sense of what I had done. But that is a point on which my memory is not so very clear, especially as I am so hurried today with my work at the works.

NO GRUDGES.

"Grudges? Bless you, no. The Prince of Wales, being a true-born Briton himself, always had the most cordial respect for the chap that whipped him. I found it out along in those days, and also later, when he came to this country some thirty years ago incog. He was peeng, but he recognized me, and we had a good laugh over the memory of our first encounter.

BOTTLE OF WINE

"I was in New York at the time. While everybody else was standing around, waiting for an introduction to the Prince, or for him to ask to have them introduced, the moment he saw me he came to me and insisted on my taking a bottle of wine with him, provided I would pledge to fight fair and not hit below the belt. The Prince of Wales is every inch a gentleman and always was so long as I have known him.

THE PRESENT.

"It's not alone wine and beer that the Prince makes me take with him when we meet. Long before that meeting in New York, on one of his later summer trips to Scotland, the Prince of Wales happened to learn in some way that I was in need of money, was 'strapped,' as I have learned to say in this country. I'm blessed if he did not send me a princely sum.

"No, I will not say that it was his money that ultimately helped me to found this industry in Oakland. There are some details that must be treated with the greatest nicety, and that requires time and leisure on the part of both the narrator and the listener. If you and I ever become better acquainted, I may let you into this matter, as well as into the details of my fight with the Prince of Wales. But not at present, while my dinner and my work are waiting for me.

"Why did the Prince of Wales give me money? Well, I suppose just because he was the Prince of Wales. I know of no other reason, unless it was because I happened to need a pretty round sum just then.

THAT LICKING.

"You need not suggest that possibly the Prince imagines that he licked me. I will never admit the possibility of such a thing. I am still a pretty good Britisher at heart, but I am not a courtier enough for that. I've kept the run of this event long enough to know for a certainty exactly how it was. And I've had plenty of chances to refresh the memory of the Prince, and have taken them.

AS THE KING.

"Do I think that he will make a great King of England? Why not? He's a first rate fellow in every other way.

"I'd almost like to tell you the full story of how I thrashed the Prince of Wales, although I confess I cannot see what good it would do the Tribune or its readers, and some day I may, but I won't promise. No, sir. Not a word today. When I say no, I mean it. That's the kind of man I am. Come around some time, if you care to, and try me, when I have no kiln to personally superintend and when the presses are not running.

"But after all, without knowing it, I've really told you all about the thrashing I gave the future King of England."

JOAQUIN MILLERS SPLENDID TRIBUTE TO OUR WOMEN

... THEIR BATTLE WITH THE WORLD ...

EQUAL TO MEN ALL ALONG THE LINE

WELL, God bless Ambrose Bierce for accusing me of the crime of kindness to women, gum-chewing, and all sorts. I am afraid I am not as kind as I should be, but if ever indicted and arraigned, I would be proud to plead guilty. The fact is, women have a hard time. I wrote a little poem once about women—not the noisy sort. They can speak for themselves and do speak for themselves, and maybe too much.

PATIENT MADONNA.

But I want to say something about the silent woman, THE PATIENT MADONNA WHO FIGHTS THE BRAVEST BATTLE EVER FOUGHT AND GOES DOWN TO HER DEATH UNNAMED, SILENT AND SATISFIED.

Why, look here, we are building monuments and statues to great big men with great big swords astraddle of great big horses in nearly every public square under our flag. Washington city has about a hundred. As to whether they are monstrosities or not, as the Emperor of Brazil said, does not touch the case. I only ask you to sweep your eye over the continent. YOU WILL SEARCH IN VAIN FOR ANY MONUMENT TO ANY OF THE MADONNAS OF AMERICA, THE SILENT, BRAVE WOMEN WHO FIGHT THE BATTLES OF THE REPUBLIC, THE BRAVEST BATTLES.

There is a little bit of a dumpy figure down in New Orleans reared to the memory of A LITTLE BAKER WOMAN WHO GAVE BREAD TO THE POOR, WHO GAVE ALL HER LIFE TO MAKING AND BAKING BREAD, AND THEN LEFT ALL HER FORTUNE, A VERY CONSIDERABLE FORTUNE, TO BE GIVEN OUT IN BREAD AS SHE HAD GIVEN IT AMONG THE POOR.

It was only by accident that this bravest of brave women was discovered and her quiet, sweet work, some years after she was dead, I should say.

Now, do you know any BIG MAN WITH A BIG, LONG SWORD DOING ANYTHING LIKE THAT? I don't know of any one man who ever has done is is doing anything like that, but I do know of a few women who are doing something like that in other ways, and I have heard of many, but I never heard of any one of them having a monument save the one at New Orleans. There are many of those women on the Pacific Coast, but I do not wish to be personal.

I may be accused again of being kind to women, as in the case of Miss Chase. But the world knows right well that the two great universities of California, right hand and left, are looking to women, and very quiet women, for their architectural splendor.

WOMEN BETTER THAN MEN.

Of course these are exalted cases. But they reach all the way down, even away down to the little baker woman in New Orleans.

I have only to say that the bravest of the brave are the women of this Republic, and it goes without further word that women are better than men in every walk and every way of life.

What do I think of women in literature? Well, I can't answer directly. So far as I have found out, literature is about the hardest field to hoe on the face of the earth. As a lover of women, I am almost sorry to see her in the field.

CALIPH OMAR.

At a dinner in London a big man arose and proposed a toast to Caliph Omar, and he glorified Omar for having burned the library of Alexandria, and he cried: "OH, FOR ANOTHER OMAR TO BURN ALL THE LIBRARIES OF TODAY AND GIVE MEN AND WOMEN A CHANCE TO WRITE NEW AND BETTER BOOKS."

Of course, this was half in jest, but it illustrates a congestion that men have to front, and it takes something like a sword to open the oyster.

We all know that men are writing very desperate things today only to get something new and feed a vitiated taste. Now you see how hard it is for a woman to hoe in this field.

Of course poetry of a high order is rare. It will always be so. The Miltons will come and will go. They will write their poems and sell them for the traditional ten pounds and starve and die. This, you will see, is also hard for women. In fact, a poet, like a priest, must expect to go hungry if he is true to himself and hungers for the heights and the true light. Here, you see again, very difficult is the path for woman. Back of it all, if compelled to answer, woman lacks the robust force to do sledge-hammer work. She is not the bass viol of the orchestra.

WOMEN AS POETS.

You ask me what woman among the poets I most admire? Now it is a very reckless thing to say, and I will be laughed at, but a woman built the British navy and fired the seamen of Britain as no other woman or man ever did or ever will, and that woman was the much-derided Felicia Hemans, and THAT POEM, WHICH BUILT THE NEW BRITISH NAVY AND FILLED IT AND KEEPS IT FILLED WITH MEN, IS "CASABIANCA." Take that from the first line, where "THE BOY STOOD ON THE BURNING DECK," and read it right through, and DUTY, DUTY, DUTY is in every line of it, the watchword of the British navy—"ENGLAND EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY."

BROWNING.

Of course Tennyson's ballad of "The Revenge is a thousand times greater, but it came later, and as for the women, Mrs. Browning is away ahead of Mrs. Hemans, but she sang under brighter skies and better auspices.

CO-EDUCATION.

You ask me about co-education? Let me say right here at once that there is too much education of one sort given both sexes. I WOULD LET NO ONE READ A BOOK WITHOUT A HOE IN THE OTHER HAND, OR PLANE OR PLOW OR SOME SORT OF IMPLEMENT WITH WHICH TO MAKE THIS WORLD BETTER AND MORE BEAUTIFUL IN A SOLID, PRACTICAL WAY.

I have plenty of graduate girls come here with their poetry who don't know beans. I mean this very seriously. They don't know how to grow beans, they don't know how to hoe beans, AND, WORSE THAN ALL, THEY DON'T KNOW HOW TO COOK BEANS.

YOUNG MEN.

The same may be said of many young men. They think they have only to get through school. Then, once through school, the ugly truth is they find the steps so far down from university grounds to the practical bed-rock business of life that they are broken by the fall.

HUNTINGTON.

Huntington uttered a tremendous truth very recently in San Francisco when he said there was too much education, only I know he meant to say a little more. HE MEANT TO SAY THAT NO MAN SHOULD BE EDUCATED BEYOND THE CAPACITY TO MAKE A LIVING. Just where a man's or woman's educational path diverges or ascends higher than a plane of practical, common sense toil on the one hand, there it should stop and take up the practical part and give it the chief consideration.

GOD SETTLED IT.

What is the noblest sphere for woman? Why, God settled that. It is not a question that will admit of more than one answer.

WOMAN'S WORK OUTSIDE OF MOTHERHOOD? Why, I used to deride it and disliked it, but I am older now, and experience points out to me, as it has mostly to others, that so far as WOMAN has gone, she has MADE THINGS MUCH CLEANER AND MUCH MORE BEAUTIFUL IN EVERY WAY.

WHEN HE WAS JUDGE.

Why, when I was a judge in the biggest half of Oregon, although only but a baby judge, I used to have about a dozen men, big lawyers, most of them, with their boot heels up on the clerk's desk telling such stories as would make a white man leave the court room if told today. I HAD ONE LAW BOOK AND ONLY TWO SIX-SHOOTERS, AND I HAD TO ADMINISTER JUSTICE, AND SO WAS NOT CONCERNED ABOUT THE MORAL CODE. But now there are women clerks, secretaries or assistants in nearly every court room, and now and then a woman lawyer, and MEN ARE NOW WHAT THEY WERE BORN TO BE—GENTLEMEN. In the absence of women men are beasts. Of course the court-room is only one of a very great many channels of employment for women.

WOMAN A WINNER.

I HAVE NEVER HEARD OF WOMAN BEING UNEQUAL TO THE WORK IN ANY OF THE VARIED NEW DEPARTMENTS INTO WHICH SHE HAS ENTERED AND SHE HAS DONE SO MUCH IN KEEPING US BEASTS CLEAN I THINK THE ARGUMENT IS CLEARLY IN HER FAVOR ALL ALONG THE LINE AS FAR AS HEARD FROM.

THE REV. E. R. DILLE ON THE BIG PRIZE FIGHT.

By REV. E. R. DILLE PASTOR OF THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

THIS prize fight was a disgrace to the American people and to civilization. All the adjuncts connected with it brought it to a lower level than the bull fights of Mexico. We certainly cannot talk of bull fights being immoral when we sanction and patronize such contests.

IT IS DISGUSTING—The whole matter is disgusting. It nauseates me to pick up the paper and find it full of pictures of pugs and brutes. My judgment of the athletic clubs is about the same. They are wholly demoralizing and a curse to civilization. They tend to ruin the moral character of the young men. I do not know of an athletic clubs that are not run on a plan that is demoralizing.

PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT—I am not opposed to physical development, but it should be attained without such injurious adjuncts as are now connected with the clubs. The Y. M. C. A. athletic clubs are a benefit to the country. They turn out strong, healthy Christians. One of the best athletes in the country, Stagg of Yale, is a staunch Christian young man. I am utterly opposed to any athletics connected with a prize ring where admission is charged and bets made. Was I interested in the outcome of the fight? No, I was not. I wish, however, that they had both been knocked out. It would have been better for the country if they had both been killed. It was said by a gentleman at the time Corbett and Fitzsimmons fought that it would have been a good thing if Fitzsimmons had killed Corbett. Then a dog should have bitten Fitzsimmons and killed him, after which the dog should have been shot and put an end to the whole business.

MORAL SIDE—Think of the moral side of these fights. Look what brutes it makes of men. They are not satisfied unless blood is shed. They call for blood and create a riot if it is not done. They are just as clamorous for blood as are the audiences at the Mexican bull fights. They are disgusted if they do not get it. Now, I suppose Jeffries will go on the stage like John L. and the other pugs. If he follows the example of the other champions he will dissipate and debauch as the other champions have done. It is in this way that they ruin themselves and prove their own antidote. They are generally knocked out the next time they come up for battle.

THE FIGHTER—Everything in which the prize fighter excels can be outdone by the gorilla. Put one gorilla in a ring with all of the fighters, and he would knock them all out. They have more reach than even Jeffries has. This development of the physical without the intellectual and moral side of a man makes him a lop-sided creature. It is not a man that takes part in such contests. It is one-third man with two-thirds left atrophied.

JEFFRIES WINNER IN ELEVEN ★ FAST ROUNDS ★

FITZ KNOCKED COLD

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

NEW YORK, June 10.—The prize ring has a new world's champion. Last night at the Coney Island Club, in eleven rounds of fierce fighting, James Jeffries, the young California giant, knocked out Robert Fitzsimmons, and won the title of champion that the latter wrested from Corbett two years ago. Jeffries knocked Fitz down in the second round, and in the eleventh he gave the "Kangaroo" terrific punishment, knocking him out with a savage blow on the jaw. Fitz made a game fight, and cut Jeffries up about the face, but the latter only fought more fiercely than ever. He showed himself remarkably quick and scientific for so big a man, and won a clean-cut victory.

THE REFEREE'S STATEMENT.

George Siler, who refereed the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight, said in an interview: "It was a nice, clean, straightaway fight, with no attempt on either side to foul. Both men seemed to do their best to avoid any violations of the rules. Of course, when big men like these get tired there is more or less clinching. In my opinion, Jeffries had a shade the better of it for the last seven rounds. Jeffries is unquestionably a young man of remarkable strength. It was a good fight from start to finish, and the best man won."

FITZ HAS NO EXCUSES.

Ex-Champion Robert Fitzsimmons said to a world correspondent:

"I fully expected to win, but I did not. Jeffries won because he was the best man. I could not believe that he had improved so much. He is young, strong, quick and clever. I have no excuse to make on the score of condition and overconfidence. I was in perfect trim, better than I really ever was before, and I fought the best I could. Whereas I fully expected to win, I did not hold my man cheap. That is something I was never guilty of. Jeffries is now the champion of the world beyond question, and is entitled to all the praise that may be showered upon him. He won the title fairly and squarely, and he now has a chance to make a great deal of money. Let him go ahead and get it, and I, for one, will not molest him for the present. Of course, I may challenge him, but it was all so sudden that I have not had time to decide just what I will do. If is not improbable that I will ask him for another chance."

CORBETT CALLED THE TURN.

James J. Corbett said: "It proved just as I predicted. When Jeffries was my sparring partner at Carson at the time I prepared for my fight with Fitzsimmons, I knew that he had it in him, though he was then immature. Fitzsimmons would not fight me. But in Jeffries I got the man who I knew could defeat him. Jeffries was never in danger. When I went to his room before the battle I told him to go in and fight as soon as the gong rang. I told him if Fitzsimmons would not fight in the first round to go at him. He did it. In the third round he had Fitzsimmons going. It was a splendid battle and Jeffries did the fighting. This proves what I have always said—that a good boxer with a good left hand could defeat Fitzsimmons. Jeffries possesses all the qualities of a great boxer. He is competent to defend his proud title against any fighter on earth. He does not lack ring science nor generalship. The fight showed he was quicker than Fitzsimmons."

KID McCOY SURPRISED.

Kid McCoy said: "The fight went longer than I expected to see it. It is needless to say that I was greatly surprised at Jeffries' wonderful improvement. He proved himself more scientific, quicker and with better judgment than I had anticipated.

"Fitzsimmons, who is one of the cleverest fighters and best generals in the ring, should have won the fight. It was a magnificent battle and at the start it looked as if Fitzsimmons would win it. I looked for a shorter fight.

"If I were asked what made Fitzsimmons lose I would say simply Jeffries. He proved himself a great fighter and will defend his title. The fight itself showed the evident fact that a very clever man at 167 pounds is no match for a very clever man at 210.

"I had no idea so big a man as Jeffries could be so fast. I was not less surprised at his gameness. In the seventh and eighth rounds, when things looked bad for Jeffries, he came back quickly. The punishment seemed to what his appetite rather than to discourage him.

"The first few rounds of the fight, barring the first knock-down, were Fitzsimmons'.

"Almost every man can come back after a defeat. He is still middleweight champion of the world."

JEFFRIES NEVER IN DOUBT.

Champion Jeffries said: "The fight was never for a moment in doubt so far as I was concerned. I knew what I could do when I entered the ring, and I grew more confident every moment from the time the gong first sounded.

"Fitzsimmons never hurt me but once, and that was a hard blow on the left eye. His body blows did not have the force they may have seemed to. In my estimation I had the best of every round.

"Fitzsimmons was a good, clean fighter and he is probably the best man of his weight in the country, if not in the world. I wish him all the success for the future.

"I believe I am the best man in the world, and I am willing to defend the title which I have won."

DEVERY'S LITTLE PLAY.

After the knockout blow had been dealt Chief of Police Devery jumped to the outer edge of the ring and waited for the referee to count the fatal tenth second.

He stepped into the ring and his men surrounded it. He was asked in the ring by a reporter whether, in accordance with his declaration of a few days ago, he would arrest the principals.

"Wait a few moments and we will see," he replied. And then, as he saw that Fitzsimmons had recovered sufficiently to sit up and answer the greeting and handshake Jeffries offered, he said: "Oh, there will be no arrests. Fitzsimmons is all right and the law has not been violated. He is as well as when he entered the ring, according to the report of Dr. Creamer, who examined him, so an arrest is not necessary.

"I wish it to be said, and said distinctly, that neither Mr. McLaughlin nor any other man made me change my opinion regarding the stand I took two days before the fight. I would have stopped the fight in a minute if I had seen anything that was a violation of the law."

MADE INVESTIGATION OF OAKLAND HARBOR.

General Wilson, chief of the United States Corps of Engineers at Washington, has just made a personal inspection of the harbor. In order not to revive the old controversy between Oakland and Alameda, his visit was kept a secret to all but a few prominent water front men.

General Wilson does not seem to favor the building of the tidal canal, which Alameda considers necessary for her sanitary perfection. He seems to think the money can be spent to the best advantage in improving the harbor proper.

THE CAR MEN ELECT NEW SET OF OFFICERS.

The Oakland Carmen's Social and Benevolent Society, after a closely contested election, chose Edward M. Skain their president. The society was organized about a year ago and has since made a fine record as a benevolent institution.

The election resulted as follows: President, E. M. Skain, Piedmont line; superintendent, George Wharton, Alameda; foreman, C. McDonald, Oakland; conductor, George W. Snake, Piedmont; inside doorkeeper, William Hall, East Oakland; outside doorkeeper, J. H. Deal, Alameda; secretary, Dave Hughes, Berkeley; receiver, George H. Cornell, Piedmont.

ALLEN TELLS HOW HE WAS VICTIMIZED.

The preliminary examination of Edward Hill, accused of having stolen a diamond shirt stud from J. A. Allen of San Francisco, was begun before Judge Quinn yesterday.

The complaining witness related how he had been made a victim by two clever pick pockets.

Hill was taken to the County Jail by Special Officer Ford.

Judge Quinn took the matter under advisement until June 16th.

Porter the Prophet.

Friday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock, while F. R. Porter was being shaved by me he said:

"Fitzsimmons has the form and Jeffries is the long-shot, but you write this down as my judgment and put it in an envelope: 'Jeffries will do Fitzsimmons tonight in the eleventh round.'"

Barber for John Tisch.

VOL. XXXVI OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 10, 1899. NO. 141

"The Turtle" to Be Seen at the Macdonough Tonight.

The Dewey's Patrons Will be Treated to a Week of "Hamlet."

"EL CAPITAN" AT THE GRAND

Lambardi Italian Opera Company Goes to the Alhambra Next Week.

The most notable announcement of the season is the positive assurance that "The Turtle," the greatest success of the amusement season, will be seen tonight at the Macdonough.

The fame of "The Turtle" has spread to the remotest limits of the land, and everybody who went to New York singled it out as an object of special interest which must be seen at all hazards. The result is a matter of history. The merry and piquant farce, so cleverly adapted into the English by Joseph W. Herbert, had such a firm grip upon the fancy of the New York playgoers that it played week after week to overflowing houses and attained a run of over 200 performances. There is nothing offensive or salacious in the theme of "The Turtle." It has no betrayed husbands or deceiving wives, after the manner of the average French farce, but its personages are all self-respecting people, who become involved in a hurlyburly of confusion and an entanglement in the most natural way possible. It has a simple little story, just risque enough to be piquant. Its first act humorously outlines the comic complications, the second provides the most sensational and realistic of recent stage episodes, and the third is furiously funny in its absurd farcicality. The comedy interest is steadily cumulative, and one of the drollest situations immediately precedes the final fall of the curtain.

The endorsement for six months by the leading Broadway Theater, is enough to dispel any fear that "The Turtle" is in any sense gross, vulgar or carnal. It has a certain frankness of expression, to be sure, but without the coarseness of the untranslatable French. Its most daring scene—that of the nuptial chamber—is managed with such deftness and daintiness by Miss Isabel Evesson that it becomes only poetic and artistic. It is this artistic atmosphere pervading the entire production that has made it so immensely popular during its New York run, which has far exceeded any other current attraction.

"The Turtle" does not come with an inferior cast; but with a notable organization of players, all enjoying personal distinction. Among them are Isabel Evesson, Jennie Reiffarth, Ada Deaves, Marion Ballou, Lillian Coleman, Signor Perugini, George Holland, Louis Imhaus, Hudson Liston, Orie B. Collins and Rose O'Neil. It is really an extraordinary cast and the people have been very carefully selected with regard to their individual fitness for the strongly accentuated characters which they impersonate.

In the presentation of "The Turtle" everything has been regarded from a purely artistic standpoint. The stage embellishment is a conspicuous example of this golden age of splendor. Expense has not been considered in the mounting of the play at all. The gowns and robes worn are the lates Parisian creations. Our theater-goers are certainly to be congratulated on their good fortune in being able to see "The Turtle" immediately following its phenomenal New York engagement.

A FAVORITE RETURNS.

After an absence extending over several months Louis Imhaus, will appear at the Macdonough Theater tonight in "The Turtle." Mr. Imhaus has had a long career on the stage, and was for a long time connected with various theaters in Oakland and San Francisco. He was stage director at Morosco's Grand for two years and shortly before the dramatic company closed there, went East to join some of the larger organizations. In "The Turtle" he has an important part, and will no doubt be heartily received by his many friends.

DEWEY OPERA HOUSE.

From the first presentation of "Hamlet" to the present day, possibly no dramatic production has been so frequently acted on both sides of the water. It is generally the first play thumbed by stage aspirants; and yet there is no character in which it is so difficult to satisfy an intelligent audience. The reason is that every one has his own beau ideal of "Hamlet," and it is difficult for the actor to come up to the standard of imagination.

Next week "Hamlet" will be the attraction at the Dewey, and for a portrayal of that much-vaulted of Dane, we will look to Lander Stevens to give us his idea of the version he interprets from Shakespeare's writings. Stevens has the physique, the age and the voice for the part. We have never seen him in tragedy, but he is a good reader, a clever actor and his capabilities to render a satisfactory account of himself next week are wide in his favor. To-morrow Atwood he must look for his Ophelia; there is every reason to believe that she will make a good Ophelia for she is a very versatile woman and well-read in Shakespeare. The King, Queen and Ghost, respectively, the next important roles, will be ably sustained by George Trimble, Fannie Gilbett and Dewitt Clinton, respectively. The players at the Dewey have been judiciously cast, and have been rehearsed down to a perfect reading.

The scene throughout the seven acts of the Edwin Booth version of "Hamlet" will present a handsome spectacle, bedecked in scenes and costumes of gorgeous splendor, and the eleven scenes in the play should present a very interesting "Hamlet."

EDITH MASON IN LILLIAN RUSSELL'S POSE AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SAN FRANCISCO.

GEORGE TRIMBLE AT THE DEWEY.

"Uncle Crook" will follow, with a large ballet, etc.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Owing to numerous and persistent requests from the public for a repetition of Sousa's El Capitan, the management of the Grand Opera House have decided to withdraw the bill they originally intended to produce and instead give the patrons of that popular theater another opportunity of witnessing the opera that the famous Southwell company made such an immense success of. It will be presented Monday evening with the same cast, scenery and effects that characterized the production a few weeks ago.

William Wolff, who so completely eclipsed De Wolf Hopper in the title role, will again essay the part and will introduce a number of new and catchy songs among which will be a parody, (written expressly for him by a local writer) on "The Man With the Hoe" entitled, "The Man With the Dough."

The already magnificent chorus will be considerably strengthened by the addition of a number of pretty girls, and the orchestra will also be greatly enlarged. Edith Mason, Hattie Belle Ladd, Bertha Reed Thomas H. Persse, Miss Delamotte, Winfred Goff, Arthur Wooley, Nace Bonville and Charles Arling will resume their old roles. Such an attractive bill as this will surely prove to be, will undoubtedly crowd the Gran Opera House nightly.

LAMBARDI OPERA COMPANY.

It is doubtful if any operatic organization has ever come to San Francisco, that has created such a furore, as far as the principals are concerned, as the Lambardi Grand Italian Opera Company during the past week at the California Theater. Such laudatory notices have never been accorded to any company, and such enthusiasm has, perhaps, never been witnessed in any play house. New surprises in the way of marvelous voices are sprung upon the audiences nightly, and every opera has been prolonged on account of the persistent encores. Commencing with Sunday night, the entire organization goes to the Alhambra for a week, presenting the following splendid repertoire: Sunday, "Aida;" Monday, "Lucia;" Tuesday, "Ernani;" Wednesday, "Traviata;" Thursday, "Trovatore;" Friday, "Mask Ball;" Saturday matinee, "Rigoletto;" Saturday, "Aida."

The following are the artists who will appear the coming week:

Dramatic Sopranos—Senorita Blanca Arnucci, Senorita Adalgisa Rossi.

Lyric Sopranos—Senorita Amelia Sostagni, Senorita Ernestina Uberto, Senorita Italia V. Repetto, Senorita Gilda Marquetti.

Mezzo Sopranos—Senoritas Zelma Poletina, Elisa Nerozzi and Beatrix Franco.

Contraltos—Senorita Ana Demanius, Senorita Ernesta Camarrano.

Dramatic Tenors — Signor Fernando Avedano and Signor Juan Badarraco.

Lyric Tenors—Signor Domingo Russo, Signor Vinconso Fornari, Signor Ricardo Perovich, Signor Carlos Fantinati.

Dramatic Baritones—Signor Jose Ferra, Signor Gandenzio Salassa, Signor P. Bugamelli.

Lyric Baritone—Signor Carlos Vizzardelli.

Bassos—Signor Baldo Travaglini, Signor J. Passeti, Signor Luis Bergami, Signor N. Uberto.

Director of Orchestra—Cav. Ugo Barducci.

Master of Chorus—Signor Francisco Murino.

The prices are way below those ever charged for so great a company of artists.

THE TIVOLI.

The reappearance of Gracie Plaisted at the Tivoli has crowded the house as good as ever, and her acting is excellent. "The Merry War," one of Johann Strauss' most tuneful operas, is being sung by the full strength of the Tivoli company this week, and is rendered in a most artistic manner. As Elsa, Grace Plaisted is more than pleasing, and her songs are nightly encored. Frank Coffin also reappears and introduces a new song written by Max Hirschfeld entitled, "Because You Love Me." It is very pretty, and bound to become popular. The balance of the cast is in capable hands.

Next week Lecocq's "La Fille de Madame Angot" will be sung, with Miss Plaisted in her favorite role of Clairette.

THE ALCAZAR.

Lewis Morrison, having recovered from his recent illness, appears in "Hamlet" again this week. As stated in last week's issue, his acting is far superior to that of many who have been seen in the part. Florence Roberts as "Ophelia" looks very sweet and gives an excellent impersonation of the role. Howard Scott has improved as the Ghost, and Miss Fitzallen surprises her friends as the Queen. Next Monday evening Mr. Morrison will be seen in "The Master of Ceremonies." "Richelieu" will follow.

STAGE WHISPERS.

William Faversham sails for England June 24.

Francis Wilson will open his next season at the Knickerbocker Theater, New York, early in September with a new comic opera by Victor Herbert and Harry B. Smith.

Maurice Grau has engaged Marcella Sembrich for next season at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York.

Clyde Fitch, after a brief journey in Italy, is now in Paris.

Jefferson De Angelis will appear at the Casino in "The Jolly Musketeer," following the present engagement of "Ermine."

Louis N. Parker is to revise Stuart Ogilvie's version of "Cyrano de Bergerac" for Charles Wyndham, to whom Sir Henry Irving has transferred the English rights.

The London critics have accorded much praise to Fred W. Peters for his capital impersonation of General Billetdoux in "Why Smith Left Home."

Frank Lawton, the whistler, now with "The Belle of New York" in London, recently whistled at an entertainment at the Hotel Cecil, at the special request of the Prince of Wales.

Frederick Warde will star next season in a play by Henry Guy Carleton, and will be supported by Clarence M. Brune and Minnie Tittel.

Jerome Sykes will be starred next season in the production of "Chris and the Wonderful Lamp," playing the part of the Genl.

Yvonne de Treville, the prima donna of the Castle Square Opera company, will sail for Europe the latter part of June. Mart Hanley has already booked a good part of Robert B. Mantell's next season in week stands. The star will open early in September at Pittsburgh in "The Dagger and the Cross," and among other cities will play Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Cincinnati.

Alice Nielson closed her season in Chicago last week and is now visiting in San Francisco. She will go to Honolulu shortly for the summer vacation.

Lester Lonergan has sailed for Europe to join Nance O'Neil and McKee Rankin whose engagement opens in the fall.

Mrs. Fiske has engaged Maurice Barrymore to play the part of Rawdon Crawley, in "Becky Sharp," Langdon E. Mitchell's dramatization of "Vanity Fair." Mrs. Fiske will produce this play at the Fifth Avenue Theater next September.

THE CRITIC.

PEGGY'S KERCHIEF.

Yellow, for the passing years
Have with sere touch dimmed it,
And the hands are vanished long
That in the old times trimmed it,
While a sweet herb's fragrance faint
Each flimy fold discloses—
The muslin kerchief, broidered white,
With roses.

Peggy, she my great great-aunt,
On gala days to don it,
With her skillful fingers fleet
Put 'broideries upon it,
And, as other maids, I wis,
Oft sat with dreamy glances,
The while she weaved, 'tween silken stitch,
Romances.

When so fine and daintily,
Flower 'broidered, Peggy made it,
With slender sprigs of lavender
Away with care she laid it,
Yet as springs to summers turned
And years the years succeeded,
Soft, fold on fold, the kerchief lay
Unheeded.

For as a springtide blossom dies,
So Peggy, ere she wore it,
And with the scent of lavender
That subtly hovers o'er it,
Breathing of the years ago
All undisturbed reposes
The muslin kerchief, broidered white,
With roses.

News and Notes of Single Tax.

EDITED BY EDGAR POMEROY.

All public improvements and public enterprises are reflected in land values. Land is the only thing that increases in price with the growth of a community; houses, wagons, bread, butter and all things tending to satisfy men's material needs become rather cheaper than dearer. For that reason public improvements should be paid for by a tax on land values only.

"Already millions of acres of land in Mexico are owned by American and English capitalists and syndicates, and they are getting more all the time.

"The owners of the land own the people on it, for they are nothing more than slaves."—Hugh Craig, at the Pastors' League, June 6, 1899.

Yes and about sixty-three million acres in the United States are owned by English syndicates and the same fact is true. Land being a necessity to every one, the landless and the small land owner must perforce become slave to the land owner.

Two per cent of the people of New York own all the land of that city. The others live there by permission of the two per cent and by the payment of a tribute called "rent." The land was there before the people came.

"The principles of the Single Tax are eternally sound."—Rev. Charles R. Brown.

"We also do well to remember that a good deal of the Old Testament morality is away ahead of us. The land laws of Moses prevented a few men from holding the major part of the soil."—Rev. J. E. Silcox, in his sermon on Evolution, Sacramento, May 29th.

The San Francisco Single Tax Society held their regular monthly meeting in the Assembly Hall of the Mills Building on Monday evening and the reports of the propaganda committee showed that so great had been the demand for literature that although they had begun the month with a large stock on hand the supply was now exhausted.

The Society ordered several hundred dollars worth of literature from the East including one thousand copies of "Shortest Road to the Single Tax" and one thousand copies of "Why?" from Cedar Rapids, containing Joseph Leggett's famous article "Landlordism in England."

An amendment to the constitution was adopted, after a hot debate, disavowing all connection with any religious sect or political party. The most interesting tilt of the evening was between C. K. Storms and A. D. Cridge; the former warmly protesting that the Single Tax is a religion, an end in itself, while Mr. Cridge hotly argued that it is but a means to an end.

The Oakland, or County Society held an interesting meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Building on Tuesday evening and debated the resolution that "The Present Industrial System is Not Responsible for the Unemployed."

An original farce called "A Trial By Jury," will be given by the Society next month. This will be the second in the series of popular free entertainments to be given, and will consist of a realistic trial scene in which landlordism, in the shape of a prosperous landlord, will be on trial for "conspiring to destroy competition and thereby increase the price of the article sold." The charge will also be made that the landlord has violated the Federal Constitution, Amendment XIII.

Next Tuesday the County Society will debate on the resolution, "Resolved, That the inequality in the distribution of wealth does not come from inequality in nature." The public is invited.

TEMPERANCE AND SINGLE TAXES.

So long as the government—national, State and local—continues to derive a large share of its revenues from the liquor traffic, it will be very difficult if not impossible for the temperance cause to secure an impartial hearing. But the adoption of the single tax would, by relieving governments of the necessity of deriving revenues from the liquor business, place that business in an open field, where it would stand or fall upon its own merits. The liquor business being no longer regarded as a contributor to the support of government, the liquor question could be dealt with like other moral questions, upon moral grounds, free from all fiscal entanglements. Temperance workers have spent two generations combatting a business in which the government is a silent partner. Dissolve the partnership, by raising public revenues upon the single tax principle, and the temperance question could be rightly settled within a decade.—F. M. Marquis, Chicago.

EH?

It is not wise for imperialists to argue as they do that this country would be carrying out God's designs by driving the Filipinos from the lands which they put to so little use, and opening them up to settlement by a race that would use them. If it is God's plan to have us evict from their lands people who hold them out of use or out of their best use, we might to advantage begin with our own land monopolists. Vacant lots in Chicago are put to less use than the Filipinos put their lands to.—Louis F. Post.

COMPENSATION.

A few of those who readily assent to the righteousness of the single tax principles, have not yet fully realized the full significance of the single tax applied. These are the timid few who hesitate or object to its application, unless the present land owners are first compensated, for what they are pleased to call THEIR land. How it became their land and whose was the real title before they got it, we need not now stop to enquire. The thought that they should be compensated for any decrease in the value of their holdings resulting from the State increasing the tax on land value, comes from the habit of associating ownership of land with ownership of private property. Associating something morally right with that which is morally wrong. When sudden need arises and private property or land is taken by the Government,—buildings or land for public improvements or public need,—in such cases no one would dispute the justice of compensation. But to compensate for any loss that might arise from an increase of tax on the value of land, or any of the multitude of things taxed, would be an act without sense or justice. In the whole realm of government or commerce such a thing as compensation for loss to owners of property affected by changes in law, increasing or diminishing taxes, has never before been thought of. Where the "McKinley Bill" which repealed the duty on sugar was enacted the price of sugar fell in one day forty per cent. No one thought of such a thing as demanding from the government compensation, although to the producers of sugar the blow was a hard one. So far from there being anything unjust in taking the full value of land for the use of the community the real injustice is in leaving it in private hands an injustice that amounts to robbery and murder. In acquiring land even by purchase at its full value and the payment of "honestly earned money." No one can exchange property for which he has a moral right for property to which there is no such moral right and expect to escape the consequences and risks involved in holding or dealing in such property. He cannot expect that the moral right attaching to the ownership of rightful property can be retained and attached to property having no moral sanction, for which it may have been exchanged. Nor can it be expected that public opinion may not change respecting matters of expedience or justice in taxation. The plea that incomes derived from rent or from the labor of slaves would be cut off should a tax be put on rent or on slaves will not suffice to prevent justice being established and the State ceasing to sanction personal property in land, or in slaves, or to continue to exempt them from taxes. When the justice and wisdom of all this is seen (and it is obvious on careful examination) there is no fear that single-taxers will listen for one moment to the "impudent plea" that before the community can take what God intended it to take,—before men who have been disinherited of their natural rights can have such rights restored to them,—the present owners of land shall first be compensated. "Not only will it become clear that the single tax will directly and largely benefit small land owners whose interests as laborers and capitalists are much greater than their interests as land owners, and that though the greater landowners or rather the propertied class is general among whom the profits of land ownership are really divided through mortgages, rent charges, etc., would relatively lose, they too would be absolute gainers in the increased prosperity and improved morals, but more peremptorily than from any calculation of gains or losses should our duty as men, our duty as Christians, forbid us to listen for one moment to any such paltering with right and wrong."

No, on the score of morals or justice no valid excuse can be found opposing the single tax. Why then should any hesitate to encourage its going into operation. The existence of the present system of taxation is a violation of natural rights. Involving a gross injustice on the part of the benevolent intention of the Creator, it is a moral duty that the State should abolish it, and compensation to present land owners for what has been unjustly withheld for generations from its rightful owners need not for a moment be thought of. "We do not ask that what has been unjustly taken from labor shall be restored. We are willing that bygones shall be bygones and to leave dead wrongs to bury their dead; we propose to let those who by the past appropriations of land value have taken the fruit of labor retain what they have thus got. We merely propose that for the future such robbery of labor shall cease; that for the future, not for the past, land holders shall pay to the community the rent that to the community is justly due."

JOHN McLEES.

SINGLE TAX STRAIGHT JACKET.

Reverend Egbert R. Dille, in his sermon Sunday evening, May 14, paid the Single Tax, unwittingly, a high compliment. In its illustration of its effect on the present system of crooked taxation he compared it to putting a round shouldered man in a vice to straighten him up. This is precisely what advocates of the Single Tax claim it will do—put a straight-jacket on land monopoly, that it is a reform that will reform. Dille regards it as violence. His comparison is the diagnosis of the quack, a humpbacked man suffers alone. Monopoly of land crushes millions. But even were the cases analogous, there are cases where the plucking out of an eye or the cutting off of a hand becomes necessary, and the methods which will save life the greatest mercy. Nothing of this, however, is involved in the introduction of the Single Tax. Nor is any compensation or special consideration due to those who have been exploiting the human race for generations. So obviously just are the principles underlying the doctrine of the Single Tax, that to minds normally sane a clear statement and understanding of it gains their approval. Dr. Dille, however, cannot give the subject this kind of treatment. Evidently he is not given to subsoil methods in his economic studies. He seems not to understand what Henry George contends for in proposing the Single Tax. Dille calls it a "scheme which means that the government would ultimately virtually confiscate all the land." Nor does he understand Mr. George's use of language. "Dille treats "electricity, gravitation and sunlight" as something separate and distinct from land, yet man is the only animal, force, or thing in the universe of creation not included in the term "land" in its economic meaning. It is the exact truth and not a "fallacy" to state that all wealth is the product of labor applied to land. Dr. Dille should know that "sham" reforms will not relieve the man with the "aching stoop." He says it is bad for a man to be round shouldered, but Dille is ever ready to oppose the application of the true remedy for round shoulders—the removal of the lead (except for a consideration)—though knowing that in supporting the power which piles on the "poor man's burden" he is aiding in "putting out the light" that should illuminate the brain of millions yet unborn.

GRADATIM.

Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round.

I count this thing to be grandly true,
That a noble deed is a step toward God,
Lifting the soul from the common clod
To a purer air and a broader view.

We rise by the things that are under feet;
By what we have mastered of good and gain;
By the pride deposed and the passion slain,
And the vanquished ills that we hourly meet.

We hope, we resolve, we aspire, we pray,
And we think that we mount the air on wings
Beyond the recal of sensual things,
While our feet still cling to the heavy clay.

Wings for the angels, but feet for men!
We may borrow the wings to find the way—
We may hope and resolve, and aspire and pray;
But our feet must rise, or we fall again.

Only in dreams is a ladder thrown
From the weary earth to the sapphire walls;
But the dreams depart and the vision falls,
And the sleeper awakes on his pillow of stone.

Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round

WHEN MARJORIE SINGS.

When Majorie sings, her throat of snow
Swells with music's ebb and flow
Like throat of song-thrush, and her eyes
Grow tender as the light that lies
On hilltops when the sun is low.

So fair the singer, scarce I know
Allegro from adagio,
Nor dream her art to criticise
When Majorie sings.

I look and list and hourly grow
More hopelessly her slave; but, oh,
Of whom dreams she? (Oh, dread surmise!)
For whom do those soft blushes rise?
To whom those maiden fancies go
When Majorie sings?

—Julia Schayer in Lippincott's.

A DUPLICATE GAME.

A game of whist? Who could resist
The challenge bold when you insist?
And yet I'm told that entre nous,
You always hold a trick or two
Unknown to your antagonist.

I own I'm no analyst
Of maiden's ways, nor grasp the gist
Of half their plays—thus I may rue
A game of whist,
But, like an ardent optimist,
I'll give the wheel of chance a twist;
I'll play my hand—and would it do
To try to win your hand from you
If hearts be trumps? Do you persist—
A game of whist?

Denis O'Sullivan to Sing Here Next Tuesday.

An Elaborate Program by the World-Famed Baritone.

MUSIC ALL OVER THE WORLD.

Interesting Happenings in All the Branches of the Divine Profession.

Next Tuesday evening, June 13th, at the Unitarian Church, on Fourteenth and Castro streets, Denis O'Sullivan, known almost as well by the legendary name of "Shamus O'Brien," will be heard in a very interesting song recital. His program will not be exclusively of Irish music, as recently in San Francisco, but will include Brahm's, Lowe and Cornelius amongst the Germans; Rossini and Leoncavallo, of the Italian masters, and a mysterious and dramatic setting of Walt Whitman's war song, "Ethiopia Saluting the Colors," by Charles Wood. These will not crowd out the Irish favorites, however, for "Widow Machree" and "The Low Backed Car" by Lover, Somerville's delicious "Mary Cassidy" a group of Moore's melodies, Mrs. Needham's "Dark Rosaleen" and the merry "Donovans" and the ever-thrilling "Wearin' o' the Green" will show us Mr. O'Sullivan at his best.

Those Oaklanders who saw Mr. O'Sullivan two years ago in the opera of "Shamus O'Brien," which is, by the way, to be revived for a fortnight before Mr. O'Sullivan returns to Europe, will look forward with pleasure to hearing him on the concert stage, where he has won even greater triumphs than in Stanford's opera.

Since Mr. O'Sullivan was last at home, for this "Irish baritone," as the London papers call him, was born in San Francisco, his father was C. D. O'Sullivan, a pioneer, and one of the founders of the Hibernia Bank.—Mr. O'Sullivan has created and sung for nine months, the difficult role of the persecuted young "Marquis de St. Andre" in Francis Wilson's "Little Corporal." Mr. Wilson has just ended a phenomenally successful season with this opera in the East.

The program will be as follows:

"Prologo," I. Pagliacci .....Leoncavallo
(By request)
"Mein Madel hat einen Rosenmund" .....Brahms
"Vollchen" .....Cornelius
"Edward" (Percy's Relipues) .....Lowe
"Des Glockenthurmers Tochterlein" .....Lowe
"Ethiopia Saluting the Colors" .....Charles Wood
(Note.—These words are by Walt Whitman, and are supposed to be addressed by him, as he watched in Sherman's army, to an old negro woman on the roadside. The accompaniment represents the tramp of the soldiers.)
"Gia la luna," Taramtell .....Rossini
a. "My Dark Rosaleen" .....Needham
(Note.—This was one of the names used to apostrophize Ireland, at a time when the mention of the word "Ireland," or "Erin," was a penal offense.)
b. "The Kerry Cow" .....
c. "The Cuckoo Madrigal" .....
d. "Over Here" .....
(A song of the famine)
(Irish Folk Songs, arranged by Charles Wood
Ten minutes' intermission
"I Love Me Ould Ireland" .....
(Shamus' song on the way to the gallows.)
(From the opera "Shamus O'Brien," Stanford.)
"Little Mary Cassidy" .....
"Drimin Dhu" (little black cow) ....
"Widow Machree" .....Lover
(Arranged by Mary Carmichael)
"The Wearin' o' the Green" ..Traditional
a. "Believe Me, if All Those Endearing Young Charms" .....Moore
b. "'Tis Sweet to Think" .....Moore
c. "The Donovans" .....
.....Arranged by Needham
d. "The Low Backed Car" .....Lover

Frank Damrosch has proposed a grand musical welcome for Dewey, and suggests that his Choral Union to its full strength greet the returning warrior with "See, the Conquering Hero Comes." But this does not go far enough. It is not commensurate with the measure of Dewey's exploit. Let us rather place a group of enormous and melodious whistles at the furthest end of Staten Island, put a twin set at High Bridge, and then let a third set be placed on Liberty Island. Have them blown by steam, operated by electricity, and played by Frank Damrosch with antiphonal effects, and, provided the day was clear and the winds were whist, New York would be filled with a harmony never thought of even by the late lamented Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore. Imagine the weird beauty of the thing. From Staten Island to the Borough of the Bronx, the metropolis would be filled with sound, and jaudiced foreign critics would have another chance to say that we measure merit by bigness.

Although the season proper is past, New York is not wholly deprived of music. At the Casino "Ermine" is continuing its successful career, with Francis Wilson, Lillian Russell and Lulu Glaser as the chief entertainers. Jacobowsky's opera will be followed by "The Jolly Musketeer." After a short season of this operetta, the annual Casino summer show will be put on. It will be an adaptation from the French, by Harry B. Smith, a musical comedy called "Wild Oats." In the Terrace Garden Victor Herbert's band, under the direction of Mr. Henneberg, continues to give pleasure to many. The Seventh Regiment Glee Club, under the direction of C. B. Hawley, announces a concert to be given in the Mendelssohn Glee Club Hall.

One of the most important novelties of the past musical season in New York was a choral composition by Horatio W. Parker, professor of music at Yale University, entitled "Adstant Angeli ye Chori," sung by the Musical Art Society in March, at Carnegie Hall. This was the winner of a $250 prize offered by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Butler McCagg of New York for the best composition for mixed voices, unaccompanied. The Musical Art Society offers the McCagg prize again this year.

An effort is to be made this year to revive the popular concerts in the arena of the Madison Square Garden, New York, which used to be given by Seidl and his orchestra with more or less success. The same committee which had charge of the concerts in 1895 and 1896 is working at the plan this year. It is purposed to have the orchestra under the leadership of Franz Kaltenborn.

The music department of the Brooklyn Institute has already decided not to give a series of choral concerts next season. It has been found that these concerts do not attract. With possibly one exception, the choral concerts have been given at a financial loss, and artistically they have not come up to expectations. Last year the Institute gave a series of spring organ recitals, and these have been abandoned this year, for the same reason that the department of music refuses to undertake the choral concerts for next season. The five matinees by the Boston Symphony Orchestra are also likely to be cut off next season.

Samuel W. Jennison, the solo violinist, died suddenly of diphtheria at his ranch home, near Covina, Cal., last week. Jennison was a pupil at Kruisel and Eichberg, and at one time a member of the Mendelssohn Quintet Club. He was a brother of Paul Jennison, the 'cellist, and came to California two years ago for his health.

"William Tell" has just had its eight hundredth performance at the Paris Opera, and "Mignon" its twelve hundredth at the Opera Comique.

Jan Blockx, the composer of "The Princess of the Inn," which seems to have been the most successful opera of the year, is finishing a new lyric drama, "Till Eulenspiegel," that will be produced in Brussels next winter.

Minneapolis can boast of a band of five cornets, the members of which belong to one family. They are the Bitle Obrechts, the leader being thirteen, and the youngest musician but six years of age. They give concerts on the streets, and have already made a good deal of money. Their father is a well-known Minneapolis musician.

The production of Chabrier's "Briseis" at the Paris Opera was a decided success. It is one of the unaccountable occurrences that it was left to Germany first to produce this unfinished opera of one of France's best men. Chabrier completed but one act of the three before his death, and this was produced last winter in Berlin. The book, founded on Goethe's "Die Braut von Corinth," is by Ephraim Mikhael and Catulle Mendes.

Kaiser Wilhelm has ordered the production of Glinka's "Life for the Czar" at the Berlin Opera early next season, and diplomatists are drawing many conclusions frim this fact. It is the distinctive Russian opera.

A DEAF MUTE PREACHER.

One of the most interesting institutions in Chicago, and one of which few people know, is All Angels' mission for deaf mutes in Trinity parish house on the South Side. Here, about once a month, or as often as the Rev. Austin Mann, himself a deaf mute, can visit the city, services are held in the sign language. Mr. Mann's work of ministering to deaf mutes extends over a territory embracing ten States, so he is allowed only one day in a month to Chicago.

Mission work among the deaf mutes is carried on principally by the Episcopal Church. Only one person in 200,000 is a teacher of deaf mutes, and out of the entire population of the United States, only a dozen are clergymen who can minister in the sign language. The literature of deaf mute education, showing the origin and growth of the work, is limited to a very small circle, outside of which some confused ideas prevail. One of the popular errors is that the deaf child is placed in school mainly to learn what is called the sign language, when the real object is that the child may be taught to read and write like other people. The teacher uses pictorial or descriptive signs to make clear the meaning of written words as a means of impressing the English language upon the pupil's mind.

Beginning in a small way in 1850 in New York city, this "silent" work of the Episcopal Church has spread to every large city and important center of the Union. It reached the middle west in 1873, when the Rev. Mr. Mann began with a lay reader's license. Mr. Mann is the second deaf mute ever admitted to the ministry. In 1887 he founded All Angels' mission in Chicago at St. James' Church, but now located in Trinity parish house. During his long period of service he has made in the aggregate 300 annual reports to the bishops in whose dioceses the work is being carried on; has written 40,000 letters and postal cards and distributed nearly 30,000 prayer books and as many tracts, and has gathered into the church about 500 communicants. He has held services in 293 places.

Mr. Mann's territory covers Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Pennsylvania. In preaching in the missions in the cities of these States he travels 25,000 miles each year and manages to deliver a sermon about once every month in each place. His home is in Gambier, Ohio, but at least one-half of his life has been spent on sleeping-cars. Mr. Mann is possessed of a strong mind, wonderful energy and splendid physique. Even to those who are not familiar with the sign language he is fascinating and interesting. With his pencil he is a clever conversationalist. He reads what one is writing to him while the characters are upside down to him, and writes his words upside down to himself. This he does rapidly and with a penmanship as plain as that of a copy book.

Mr. Mann has a wife and two interesting children. Mrs. Mann is also deaf, but the children have not inherited the affliction of their parents. Mrs. Mann has been taught to speak, and as she can read from the lips as readily as one talks to her it is seldom that a stranger in conversing with her detects that she cannot really hear what is being said.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

ANCIENT SKYSCRAPERS.

If the report concerning the discoveries recently made by an Italian investigator are to be relied upon the world has one more proof that there is nothing new under the sun. This man is reported to have found records showing that ancient Rome had building laws in force restricting the height of new structures to sixty feet on the street front. The objections to high buildings at that time, so it seems, were much the same as those which are at the basis of the restrictive legislation of today, namely, danger from fire, danger in deterioration of strength of structure, the darkening of streets, etc. From the allusions of certain historians the writer above referred to concludes that some of the tenement houses of ancient Rome must have been ten or twelve stories in height on the street front, or at least 100 feet high; and fourteen or fifteen stories, or 125 or 130 feet feet high in the rear, the plan of topping off these high buildings being a terrace of stories from front to rear. He states, however, that the stories were much lower than are to be found in modern high structures, being eight or ten feet for the lower stories and perhaps less than five feet for some of the upper stories, which, it appears, were in some cases actually used as living rooms. In at least one respect, then, the modern high building is really an advancement.—Railway and Engineering Review.

GET OFF THE ELECTRIC CARS
AT FITCHBURG

On the Outskirts of Oakland.

Then think and deliberate on the following hints to real estate investors and home makers.
You can make some money now buying land anywhere within an hour's ride of a great seaport city.
You can make more money buying in some localities than others.
You can make the most money if you select a place naturally situated for a town, located in the direct line of up-to-date public and private improvements, easily accessible by cheap and frequent railway and water transportation lines to a great commercial and manufacturing metropolis and other existing business centers, yet far enough away from any to insure of its becoming a prosperous, self supporting and independent community.

FITCHBURG IS SO SITUATED

As to combine all these advantages and many others. It offers splendid inducements to those about to start business of any description.
For suburban homes it rivals any of the thickly populated centers around the bay.
Lots 25x50 feet front by 100 to 200 feet deep for sale at low prices; 10 per cent cash and easy monthly payments.

GILMORE AND NORDICA.

"It was at the time when Gilmore was at the height of his Paris engagement," says Lillian Nordica in Ainslee's Magazine, "that his agent ran off with his funds and left the old bandmaster almost stranded. Despite his sincere trouble he retained his imperturbable good nature and came out successfully. He came to me one morning smiling good-naturedly as usual. After greeting me and inquiring after my health, he said:

"'My dear child, you have saved some little money on this tour.'

"'Now I would like to borrow that little from you.'

"I was very much surprised at the request, for he said nothing whatever of his loss. Still, he had been so uniformly kind and generous and had won our confidence and regard so wholly that I could not hesitate. I turned over nearly all I had, and he gathered it up and went away, simply thanking me. Of course I heard of the defalcation later. It was all around. Our salaries went right on, however, and in a few months the whole thing had been forgotten, when he came to me one morning with money ready in his hand.

"'To pay you what I owe you, my dear.'

"'Oh yes,' I said. 'So and so much,' naming the amount.

"'Here it is,' he said, and handing me over a roll of bills, went away.

"Of course I did not count it until a little later, but when I did I found just double the amount I had named, and no persuasion would ever induce him to accept a penny of it back."

SAMOAN FIGHTING TACTICS.

The repeated use of the words "ambush" and "ambuscade" in the accounts of the recent fight in Samoa makes it more than a little difficult to grasp the circumstances from the scanty details. If by ambush is meant what the word has always meant in Indian warfare, then it does not apply, for the Samoan does not fight that way. His tactics in war are very simple. At the beginning he establishes himself in some shelter which will protect his own skin. This may be a convenient stone wall or it may be a Samoan fort. The forts are usually bulkheads of tree trunks thrown across some steep valley which has natural protection against being turned or taken in reverse. The wooden wall is backed by earth, and at convenient intervals are places where a good marksman might command the line of hostile approach. But when the combat has passed the early stage of resisting an attack the Samoans seek to carry the field by force of numbers and the impetuosity of their rush.

In this there is little of the real idea of an ambush, and few Samoans could restrain themselves long enough to admit of a successful ambuscade. The probable meaning is that to the marines and sailors all bush fighting with savages seems ambuscade. In the only other instance in which the Samoans have ventured to oppose the regular forces of the white people—the slaughter of the German sailors in 1888 on the beach at Fangalii—the result was due to the fatuity of the foreigners, who coasted along within pistol shot of the beach, making themselves conspicuous by their white uniforms and showing themselves so distinctly that the darkness of the night was no veil over their secret expedition. When people fight savages in that way almost any skirmish appears as an ambush.

There are two German plantations on the outskirts of Apia, each the property of the great German trading company, known locally as the German firm. One is the plantation of Vailele, adjoining the municipality on the east, and the other is the Vaitele plantation, which is just beyond the western boundary of the municipality. The present accounts do not make it clear which plantation was the scene of the conflict. Yet as the two plantations are in a high state of cultivation and intersected in every direction by the only good roads in Samoa, the conditions under which the battle was given should have been altogether in favor of the naval forces and as far as possible removed from the conditions which Samoans would select for their fighting. There appears to be some likelihood that the combat was on the Vailele plantation, to the east of the town, for that whole line of coast seems to have joined itself to the Mataafa side. The fact that the overseer of the plantation has been arrested on the charge of aiding the savages is still more of an argument for the same opinion. The Vailele plantation is managed by Captain Hufnagel, who had much to do with the former troubles of eleven years ago. The Vaitele plantation is under the administration of Herr Tiedmann, a man of another type and far less likely to lay himself open to suspicion. Tiedmann was promoted from a little clerkship to his present place and carries with him the somewhat mild manners of the German commercial man. The manager of the Vailele plantation was a sea captain and served his time in command of the slave ships or labor traders with which the German plantations fill their barracks with black laborers. Of the two men the former labor trader is far more likely to be found urging the savages onward in the attack on white men.

The rushing tactics of the Samoans are plainly disclosed in the brief story of the fight. They illustrate a peculiarity of the Samoan nature which has its bearing on their behavior in the face of an enemy. The Samoan is an arrant coward in some ways. He avoids and encounter unless the odds are all in his favor and the advantage of position is with him, and he hates to leave cover and come out in the open. Yet there are circumstances when these cowards will fight with all the ferocity of an Apache and will be just as cruel and savage. It seems to be due to the fact that the islanders have an inverted fashion of estimating the value of the incidents of war. No Samoan has any fear of death. All face it fearlessly in battle and in disease; they seek it by their own violent hands on trivial pretexts of annoyance and in sheer tedium of life they have it in their power to think themselves painlessly out of life. The risk of a fatal ending in battle cannot, therefore, restrain such people from the attack. Yet at the same time that these savages are so reckless of their own lives they go about in deadly fear of wounds. They do not mind being killed, but they dislike to be hurt. A very slight scratch of a wound will serve to put the boldest fighter of the party out of action, and the wounded can never be counted on as a part of the effective force until long after all outward signs of the hurt have passed away.

Holding such ideas as to fighting, cowards when it comes to enduring mere pain and absolutely careless when it comes to meeting death, the Samoans must always prove surprising to the white men who become involved in their quarrels. This will account for the stand made by the Samoan tribesmen which left them in possession of the field. They had killed the leaders, they had taken the heads of two of them, and according to Samoan ethics the fight was won and the sailors should have withdrawn. But when the sailors renewed the attack the fighting rage was on the islanders, together with the encouragement of victory, and they made a stout stand to hold their position. Yet when the white forces withdrew to their ships it is safe to say that the savages no longer cared to hold the place they had been so fiercely defending. In their own custom they would break up into small parties and scatter to various points where they might get pigs and taro for a feast.—New York Sun.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

WILLIAM KOHLER, Plaintiff, vs. MAX NECKHAUS, et al., Defendants. } No. 15,964.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, of the State of California, on the 12th day of May, A. D. 1899, in the above entitled action, wherein William Kohler, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against Max Neckhaus, Josephine Neckhaus and E. J. Flanigan, defendants, on the 10th day of May, A. D. 1899, for the sum of four thousand two hundred and thirty-two and 80-100 dollars, in United States gold coin, together with interest, costs, insurance moneys paid, and attorney fees, which said judgment and decree were on the 12th day of May, A. D. 1899, recorded in Judgment Book No. 38 of said Court, at page 158, I am commanded to sell all those certain lots, pieces or parcels of land, situate lying and being in the Township of Brooklyn, County of Alameda, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to wit:

Commencing at a point on the northerly line of Hopkins Street, distant thereon one hundred and forty and 1-100 (140.01) feet westerly from the westerly line of Dimond avenue, and running thence northerly at right angles to Hopkins street one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet; thence at right angles westerly one hundred and seventy-four and 99-100 (174.99) feet, more or less, to the center of Sausal creek; thence southerly, southeasterly and southwesterly following the center line of said Sausal creek to the said northern line of Hopkins street; and thence easterly along said last named line one hundred and thirty-three and 34-100 (133.34) feet to the point of commencement, being lots Nos. one (1), two (2), three (3), and a portion of lot No. seven (7), in block "A," as the same are laid down, delineated and so designated upon a certain map entitled, "Map of the Dimond Tract, Fruitvale, W. F. Boardman," filed April 4, 1891, in the office of the County Recorder of said Alameda County.

Public notice is hereby given that on

MONDAY, THE 12TH DAY OF JUNE A. D. 1899,

At 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, in front of the Broadway entrance of the Court House of the County of Alameda, in the City of Oakland, I will, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder, for gold coin of the United States.

PROPOSALS FOR SUPPLIES

FOR THE County of Alameda, State of California. Required by the Various Departments of the County Government.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, at the Board rooms, in the annex to the Hall of Records, in the city of Oakland, county of Alameda, State of California, until 10 o'clock A. M. on MONDAY, JUNE 26, 1899.

(at which time and place they will be opened in the presence of the bidders) for furnishing and delivering at such times and in such places and in such quantities as may be required, supplies for the Alameda County Infirmary, the various departments of the County Government, Hall of Records, at the County Jail and Receiving Hospital of the county of Alameda, consisting of fish, drugs and chemicals, stationery, wood and coal, groceries, provisions, etc., dry goods, clothing, etc., meats, etc., fruit and vegetables, wines and liquors, from date of contract to June 30th, 1900, inclusive, as per specifications and provisions of schedules to be furnished by the Clerk of this Board, adopted by this Board June 5, 1899, and according to the conditions and requirements in such schedules contained.

The county of Alameda, through the Board of Supervisors, reserves the right to use in the several departments of the County Government greater or less quantities than enumerated in the proposals and schedules should the public interests so require, bids to be awarded to the person or persons whose bid is the lowest on any item or items.

The Board of Supervisors also in considering said bids reserves the right to accept or reject all or any of said bids or proposals should the public interest so require.

Samples where required are to be presented for examination by the Board of Supervisors at the Board room, the same to be properly marked with name of bidder and schedule number.

No bid will be considered unless made upon said schedules nor unless accompanied by certified check payable to the order of Frank C. Jordan, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, certified to by some responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of the proposal or proposals which it accompanies.

Said check to be forfeited to the county of Alameda, as agreed and liquidated damages, should the party or parties to whom the contract shall be awarded fail to enter into the contract within ten (10) days after the award or fail to give a bond required by the Board for the faithful performance of the contract.

Payment for all supplies will be made in the manner prescribed by Art. 21, Sec. 25, County Government Act of the Legislature of the State of California.

All bids must be enclosed in sealed envelopes, addressed to the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, and be endorsed on the envelopes furnished by the Clerk, "Proposals for furnishing supplies for the county of Alameda, required by the various departments of the County Government," giving the general name and number as on the schedules or as otherwise provided in schedules.

Dated June 8, 1899.

ASSESSOR'S Notice to Taxpayers!

ALSO POLL TAX NOTICE.

Oakland, March 13th, 1899.

All Persons, Firms, Companies, Corporations and Associations are required to deliver at the Assessor's office, at the Court House, City of Oakland, County of Alameda, on or before April 3rd, 1899, a statement under oath, of all the property, both real and personal, owned or claimed by him, her or them, or in their possession or held in trust for others, at 12 o'clock meridian on the FIRST MONDAY OF MARCH, 1899.

In accordance with Sec. 3629, Political Code.

Every person who refuses or neglects to furnish the statement as provided for in Section 3629, Political Code, becomes liable to a fine of one hundred dollars and the value fixed by the Assessor on their property must not be reduced by the Board of Equalization.

All persons owning real estate that has been assessed in the wrong name, or errors have appeared on their tax bills, are requested to call at the Assessor's office or notify the Assessor by mail on or before April 3rd, 1899, so that the proper corrections may be made on the assessment roll for the year 1899.

Assessment blanks may be obtained at the Assessor's office, room one, Court House, or from any Deputy Assessor.

POLL TAX MUST BE PAID ON DEMAND.

Notice is hereby given that the State Poll Tax of two dollars for the year 1899 is now due and payable at my office, room one, Court House, or to a Deputy Assessor.

Sec. 3839 of the Political Code reads as follows:

Every male inhabitant of the State over twenty-one and under sixty years of age, except paupers, insane persons and Indians, must annually pay a Poll Tax of two dollars, provided the same be paid between the

FIRST MONDAY IN MARCH AND THE FIRST MONDAY IN JULY.

Then it shall be three dollars.

Sec. 3846 of the Political Code makes it the duty of the Assessor to "demand Poll Tax of every person liable therefor, and on the neglect or refusal of such person to pay, he must collect by seizure and sale of any personal property owned by such person."

Under Sections 420 to 435 every person who refuses to give his own name or the name of any person in his employ, or who in any manner obstructs the Assessor or any of his deputies in the collection of the State Poll Tax, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to a fine of $500 or imprisonment in the County Jail, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Only those persons under twenty-one or over sixty years of age are exempt. Poll tax must be paid on demand.

Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should Not Be Made.

In the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of the estate of Corinne M. Braun, deceased.

Order to show cause why order of sale of real estate should not be made.

It appearing to the said Court by the petition this day presented and filed by Francis A. Braun, the administrator of the estate of Corinne M. Braun, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate belonging to the estate of said deceased, to pay the debts outstanding against the said deceased and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before said Superior Court on Monday, the 12th day of June, A. D. 1899, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Courtroom of said Court, Department No. 4, at the Courthouse in the City of Oakland, then and there to show cause why an order should not be granted to the administrator to sell so much of said real estate as shall be necessary, and that a copy of this order be published four successive weeks in the Oakland Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in said Alameda County.

Dated May 15, 1899.

Baggage Checked at Home.

When a person wishes to take an outing, it is always a cause of worriment to have to check one's trunks and look after them until they are safely stowed away on the train or boat on which one intends to travel. This annoyance, however, is obviated by entrusting the care of baggage, including the checking of the same, to the Peoples Express Company. This is the leading express company in this city, and, in fact, on the coast. It checks the baggage at your house to any point on the Southern Pacific free of charge. The company's telephone is main 826. The office is at the northeast corner of Broadway and Ninth street. It has a branch office in Stockton at 16 and 18 North El Dorado street.
